Knock-Out Drive Against Marshalls Seems Under Way

Big U. S. Force Smashes At Jap-Held Islands For

AIR AND SEA POWER
BROUGHT INTO ATTACK

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 31.—A knock-out drive against the Jap-held Marshall Islands in the Central Pacific appeared under way today with announcement that formidable carrier-based aerial squadrons, land-based bombers and warships of the United States continued to blast the enemy island bastions through a second straight day.

Word of the consecutive assaults came from headquarters of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet, and the formidable squadrons of ships and planes known to be arrayed against the Jap led to belief that the action still may be in progress.

Washington naval circles, it was recalled, for some time have been predicting a new offensive in the Pacific, including a possible early invasion of the Marshalls, which lie northwest of the American-controlled Gilberts.

Warcraft Support
Admiral Nimitz revealed that American warcraft, probably battleships and heavy cruisers, were supporting the carrier task forces which took the aerial squadrons to Marshalls waters and poured round after round of heavy shells into Jap installations.

Informing quarters at Pearl Harbor considered that the carrier task forces in action were undoubtedly the greatest ever sent against the Japs in the Pacific. There seemed little doubt that the force consisted of more than one carrier division, each of which is made up of two or more flat tops.

The latest brief communication from Admiral Nimitz disclosed that Yank planes from the carriers hit the strong bastion of Eniwetok, only 669 miles from the main Jap base of Truk, for the first time.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Berlin was ablaze with vast new conflagrations today in the wake of the third bombardment in four nights by "a very strong force" of British bombers.

The Nazi capital was cut off from telephonic communication with the rest of the world until a late hour this morning as a result of the devastating new assault.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Berlin was bombed for the third time in four nights last night by a "very strong force" of British bombers, the air ministry announced today.

Berlin appeared cut off from telephonic communication with the rest of the world as a result of the devastating new assault in the campaign to obliterate the Nazi capital.

The air ministry announced 33 of its huge bombers were lost in the attack.

The authoritative British Press association said that the huge formations which assaulted Berlin appeared to have gone out in strength equal to the squadrons which hit the Reich citadel Thursday and Friday nights. Berlin was hit on both these occasions with about 1,700 American tons of bombs.

Reports from Stockholm and Zurich said that telephonic communication (Continued On Page Twelve)

Small Bond Sales Near $2,000,000

Corporate Sales Will Be Reported Tuesday—Will Give Quota Big Boost

Total bond sales of "E", "F" and "G" bonds for Lawrence county today amounted to $1,888,252.75, according to a report made in the Greater New Castle Association of offices, headquarters for the Fourth War Loan campaign. This is a sizeable increase over the totals reported on last Friday but still a long ways off the quota.

Corporate sales will be reported on Tuesday, February 1, and these totals are expected to bite heavily into the quota assigned for Lawrence county, $6,662,500.

The total of savings bonds reported today is not an up to the minute report. Totals from outlying districts are coming in by mail and some of them mailed Saturday did not get into the office in time to be included in the report.

House to house solicitations are progressing as are the sales in banks and theatres. The campaign is not in bad shape here but it could be in much better shape. It will be in every citizen takes a personal interest in the campaign and buys bonds.

Girl Gets In Way Of Car Being Backed Out Of Driveway Late This Morning

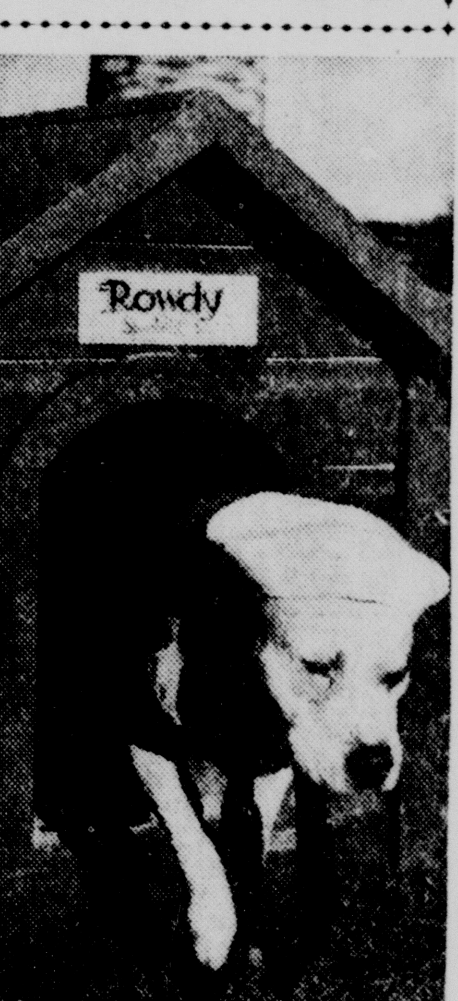

Judith Lettner, aged 2 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lettner of 810 W. Maple street, was fatally injured late this morning when she was struck and run over by her father's auto as he was backing it out of the driveway at the Lettner home.

She was admitted to the New Castle hospital at 11:35 o'clock but succumbed a few minutes afterwards.

It was stated that the father failed to notice the presence of his little daughter, who was in back of the car, until the car had run over her.

Coroner T. F. Nugent was notified of the accident at noon today and went to the hospital to investigate.

Allied Fliers Take Big Toll Of Jap Planes

RABAU BOMBING ATTACKS CONTINUE

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 31.—Allied torpedo and dive bombers, raiding Rabaul for the seventh straight day and twenty-sixth time this month, destroyed 66 Japanese planes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique announced today.

The mounting aerial offensive in the Southwest Pacific brought the destruction of 546 planes in January and 171 probables. Allied losses during the same period totaled 97, one for every six Japanese ships.

Japs Paying High Price
The high price Japan is being compelled to pay for its defense of Rabaul was revealed by official figures that 446 enemy aircraft were blasted into wreckage or badly damaged in 25 raids during the past month.

Although Rabaul is one of the most strongly fortified enemy positions in the area, its guns brought down the comparatively low total of 68 Allied aircraft the past month, in several instances the pilots were saved by "dumbo" rescue planes.

Sixty-Three Planes Downed

Record Number Of German Planes Knocked Out In Combat Over Italy

ALGIERS, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Allied aircraft knocked down a record total of 63 German planes in combat over Italy yesterday, an official communique announced today.

The large bag of enemy craft was made in the course of numerous sorties, including strikes by heavy bombers at the Nazi-held airfields at Vitorbo, Maniago, Lavarino and Udine in northeastern Italy.

The heavy bombers scored numerous direct hits on parked Nazi planes, hangars and workshops.

In the combat which downed 63 German planes, six Allied craft were reported missing. The toll exacted yesterday brought to 163 the total of German craft destroyed in combat in four days. On the Allied side 19 plane losses were listed.

Medium bombers took to the air in support of the Allied drive just below Rome. They attacked road junctions throughout the bridgehead area and fighters continued protective patrols over the beachhead.

Light bombers swept over the dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia to blast Nazi shipping.

NAZIS UNABLE TO

By NATALIA REINE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 31.—Russia's northern army rolled steadily forward toward the Estonian border today and Soviet troops were reported fighting in the eastern approaches to Kingisepp, only nine miles from the Estonian frontier.

The fall of Kingisepp, important rail junction on the Leningrad-Tallinn line, appeared imminent.

The advance toward Kingisepp was effected by Soviet units last reported 15 miles from the Estonian border.

Under continuous bombardment from Red air forces and the Russian Baltic fleet, the Germans fled to escape into Estonia along a narrow 30-mile corridor between Narva Bay and Lake Peipus.

Can't Halt Advance
The Nazis were helpless to stem the relentless advance in all sectors. In a futile attempt to save the town of Novosokolniki more than 2,000 Germans were killed. More than 800 fell southwest of Novgorod, and guerrillas wiped out 300 in the Rovno region.

German losses continued to mount on all fronts, on Jan. 29 the Reds destroyed or disabled 72 German tanks and shot down 25 planes. The Russian communique added this postscript to the announcement of newly won territory's occupation.

"We captured much booty."

Two railway stations of considerable strategic importance, Veimarn and Siversky, were captured in the big drive.

Near Showdown On Soldeir Ballot Issue In Senate

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The senate neared a showdown today on the issue of a federal vs. state ballot for members of the armed service with the result in doubt.

A renewal of last week's heated debate over President Roosevelt's message denouncing proposals for a law to encourage delivery of state ballots to soldiers as "fraud," was expected.

One prominent Democratic senator, it was learned, planned to take the floor to assail Mr. Roosevelt's interference in the soldier vote fight in the middle of senate debate. This senator contended the president violated the spirit of the constitution by his action.

Demands Earlier Convention
Meanwhile, Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., demanded that the Democratic National Committee issue a call for its national convention to be held in June as a means of further assuring the soldier a vote.

The Republicans will hold their convention in June and the name of their candidate can be put on the ballots so that the soldier can get an absent ballot in time," he said. "The Democratic national convention ought to be held in June."

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The smashing blows delivered by the 8th U. S. A. F. against Frankfurt on Saturday, and on Brunswick and Hanover yesterday indicate that Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's command is ready to meet all tactical and strategic requirements on invasion against western Europe.

On each day it is probable that the American offensive blow consisted of perhaps 800 big bombers and 700 fighters. It is doubtful if the same planes or crews would be used on two successive flights

Of this total $30,000 was realized from the auction of a captured German helmet, which was bid in by Jack Gerson for $30,000.

CIVILIANS WILL GET LESS BUTTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Tentative allocations of the anticipated 1944 butter supply announced today by the War Food Administration will give civilians slightly more than a pound of butter a month this year—about one third a pound less than in 1943.

WFA said the pound-per-month civilian allocation includes what they will eat in hotels, restaurants and other public eating places, hospitals and institutions.

Of every 100 pounds of supply civilians will receive 76 pounds, military and war services 18 pounds, Russia five pounds and United States territories and the Red Cross one pound.

The total supply is estimated at two billion 46 million pounds, including 81 million pounds carried over from last year.

ALGIERS, Jan. 31.—Supported by tanks and a withering artillery barrage, American troops on the main Italian line recrossed the Rapido river today and smashed their way through pillboxes and barbed-wire entanglements of the Gustav fortifications guarding Cassino.

Hard and bloody fighting against inured German defenses found the Allied forces making steady gains, both in the Cassino and Anzio beachhead areas.

British troops on the lower Gargiano pushed on toward the Aurunci mountain range, seizing Monte Tuga, a 2,000 foot height three miles northeast of Castellote and Monte Rotondo, a mile away. Hard fighting continued for the Monte Damiato ridge while British troops advanced locally beyond Minturno.

The invasion bridgehead below the eternal city was steadily enlarged as more and more American and British troops were put ashore along with a constant flow of supplies.

British and Yank ground units fought their way inland against mounting Nazi opposition.

Quantities Of Waste Paper Gathered Here
Saturday

No check was available today on the collection of waste paper by the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts on Saturday but Collection Chairman Joseph Hartman said a tremendous amount of paper was taken into the temporary storage buildings. The scouts did not cover the entire city but expect to do so before the week is out.

A number of citizens volunteered the use of garages or outbuildings for collection depots but there is still a need for many more in order to avoid long hauls by the scouts. Citizens are asked to co-operate by taking their paper to the nearest fire house where it is possible.

The waste paper will be shipped to Pittsburgh for processing into box board containers for packing goods needed in the war effort.

Enemy Report Says Big Battle On In Marshalls

Indications Are That U. S.
Has Unloosed Big Assault On Jap Islands

GREATEST CHALLENGE TO JAPANESE FLEET

By J. LYNN LEONARD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

The Japanese imperial high command reported today that a fierce engagement is in progress in the Marshall Island area of the south-central Pacific amid indications that the United States has loosed an expected all-out assault to wrest control of the islands from the enemy.

A broadcast communique from Tokyo said that Japanese army and navy units had intercepted and are giving battle to United States forces which had launched an attack on the Marshall group.

Only a few hours before Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific fleet, announced from his headquarters in Pearl Harbor that strong aircraft carrier task forces had blasted vital Jap bases in the Marshalls for the second straight day. To the weight of bombs from the planes sent against the enemy installations from the flat tops was added the heavy salvos of shells from United States warships, including possibly battle wagons and heavy cruisers.

The carrier divisions and warships were of greater strength than America had employed previously in any Pacific action.

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

The boldest challenge yet issued to the Japanese fleet to venture out of its island hideaways and fight for supremacy in the Pacific was hurled by the United States Navy today.

In the course of apparently widespread operations still essentially cloaked in secrecy, powerful American fleet units penetrated into the Marshall Islands which guard Truk and other vital outposts of the Jap.

Fourteen More Jap Ships Sunk By Yank Subs

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Destruction of 14 more Japanese ships was announced today by the navy as the latest blow against the enemy's dwindling supply lines.

News of the successes in the war of attrition came as the Tokyo radio said that the U. S. Pacific fleet had launched a large scale invasion of the vital Marshall Islands in the Central Pacific.

The most recent "bag" by U. S. submarines in the Pacific and Far Eastern waters included two large transports, one medium transport, one medium tanker, one medium naval auxiliary, one small freighter, one medium cargo transport and seven medium freighters.

I wonder just what the groundhog thinks as he sleeps in his cozy den, curled up in his fuzzy nose and grease on his brindle hair. I wonder if he will get up this year and take a look at the sun, to see if the winter is nearly gone, or if it hasn't begun. For he will be puzzled. I'm sure of that when he looks at the mercury for the weeks gone by while he snoozed away, and it just has occurred to me that he may decide that it's only fall, and wonder why it is so late, and go back to sleep for a couple of months, the weather is thirty-eight.

Two American Aces Crowned In Raids Of Sunday

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 31.—(INS).—Two American aces were crowned yesterday when a powerful band of Thunderbolt pilots roared over Villorba air field in northeastern Italy to blast thirty-six Nazi planes from the skies, headquarters disclosed today.

Outstanding hero of the victory was Captain Herschel Green, Mayfield, Ky., who knocked down six planes to become an ace in a matter of a few minutes. He now has nine victories.

The second pilot who got his ace's rating during the great aerial battle was Lt. George Novotny, Junks out of the skies and an observation plane to raise his total to six, one over the ace requirement.

Captain Green scored his six victories with "little trouble"—as he put it. He hopped on the tail of four Junkers and then by "climbing up" and then down. He then chased a Macchi at tree-top level for five minutes before catching the Nazi with a burst of lead. On the way back home he got a Dornier for an even half-dozen and good day's hunting.

NOT GUILTY IS PLEA OF BRIGGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS).—George N. Briggs, suspended confidential aide to Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, pleaded not guilty today to an indictment charging that he forged the name of Harry L. Hopkins to the now famed "Alamo letter."

Briggs, arraigned before Justice Edward C. Eicher in federal court, also pleaded not guilty to indictments charging the use of the mails to defraud and false pretenses.

A motion by the defense for a continuance of three weeks to allow Briggs' attorneys time to file motions or demurrers to the indictments, was granted by Justice Eicher and bail of $3,000 was continued.

anese homeland and carried out the second day's consecutive bombardment of enemy bases.

Few details were made public by the navy department at Washington or in Pearl Harbor and few probably were available because of the necessity for radio silence.

But Tokyo reported that both Japanese army and navy units had engaged the American attacking force, indicating the possibility that a real invasion of the Marshalls may be under way and that landings have been made or attempted.

So far as sound military and naval strategy goes, the Japanese must forestall American penetration of the Marshall Islands, and the only manner in which they can do so is to take their vaunted fleet out of cotton batting and excelsior and put it to work.

Military observers, however, were convinced the enemy would have to do exactly the same thing in the Gilbert Islands. But the U. S. Marines who landed at Tarawa at terrific cost and went ashore at Makin, were confronted in large measure only by overwhelming shore resistance from carefully prepared ground positions.

The imperial Japanese fleet was not there.

ment to the Green-Lucas bill providing that names of presidential candidates be placed on the proposed federal ballot. Under terms of the bill blank spaces would be left for writing in of names of the soldier's choice for president, senator and representative.

Foes of the measure believed they can either defeat the bill or drastically change it by amendment. The first major vote was expected to come on the amendment of Sen. Overton (D. La.) providing that state qualifications shall govern in the counting of the soldier's vote.

The house may be engulfed in debate on the same issue tomorrow.

Buy more war bonds! Back the attack! It's your immediate chance to aid in averting the brutality of the Japs against Americans as recently revealed.

There have been a number of shows and motion pictures in New Castle pointed towards war bond sales in the past year. Each one of them carried with an admission a commitment to buy a bond. On Tuesday night, February 1, the Fourth War Loan committee will show the picture "The War Department Reports" in the senior high school at 8:15 o'clock. There will be no charge, no bond solicitations, no speeches, nothing but the picture, and it is free.

The picture is a combination of action shots on the various fronts, several hundred feet of captured German and Japanese films and the capture of Mussolini is shown. The picture is in the nature of an added dividend to workers and bond purchasers. It runs forty-eight minutes, is action packed and every foot of the film is authentic. The committee stresses the fact that there will be no admission, no solicitation for bonds or anything else. In short—it is free.

HARA KIRI URGED ON JAP EMPEROR

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS).—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia was hopelessly awaiting results today of his invitation to Hirohito, emperor of Japan to commit hara kiri because of shameful atrocities to American soldiers.

"If he is a gentleman let him, in keeping with the custom of his country, commit hara kiri to prove it," the mayor said with angry sarcasm in a radio broadcast.

In ancient Turkey it was believed certain apples restored youth to old and decrepit persons.

and Roi Islands in the Korajalein atoll, and targets in the Wotje and Maleclap atolls.

Move To Attack

The carrier task forces and warships moved into the attack behind strong assaults carried out by land-based army and navy Liberator bombers.

The probability that battleships were taking part in the combined aerial and surface action was seen in the duration of the attacks, the fact that the Americans remained at the scene and continued their bombardment through a second day.

Although there was no indication whether the action now has been broken off, some quarters interpreted Admiral Nimitz' announcement that the forces "continued their attacks" to mean possibly that action still was in progress.

The campaign was the boldest bid to date by the United States to the Japs to come out and meet the American Pacific fleet in the open. The present offensive is the third foray by American forces into the Marshalls, but this latest action is by far the greatest.

How the Japs have reacted to the offensive is not known, but it was revealed that they sent fighters into action against American land-based bombers, which paved the way for the carrier and warship assault.

In this counter-action, Admiral Nimitz reported, "our losses were light."

CORNELIUS—HARTZELL

AFTERNOON CEREMONY

Miss Marjorie J. Cornelius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Cornelius, of 513 Norwood avenue, and William Crawford Hartzell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Veryl D. Hartzell, of Elton street, Brentwood, Pittsburgh, were united in marriage at a wedding ceremony performed Saturday afternoon, January 29, in the First Christian church.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the church, officiated with the double ring ceremony. Vows were exchanged at 2:30 o'clock before a gathering of guests which filled the church to capacity. Palms, ferns, and greenery banked the altar.

To the strains of nuptial music the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a two-piece afternoon dress of sheer wool in ice blue. Her molded waist, square neckline, and three-quarter length sleeves were decorated with edgings of gold. Her feather hat and gloves were pink. The pearl necklace she wore and companion earrings were a gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Miss Allene Hartzell, an aunt of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore an afternoon dress of dusty pink trimmed with a design of seed pearls and a pastel blue feather hat. Her corsage was gardenias.

A. C. Alexander Mazure, who is stationed at Slippery Rock State Teachers college, was best man. Ushers were A. C. S. Robert O'Riley and A. C. S. Frank Morgino, both of Slippery Rock.

As triumphant strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march echoed through the church, the couple received friends in the vestibule of the church. Organ music was played by Mrs. Kathryn Nessel Allen, church organist.

From the church the bride and groom left on a brief wedding trip and later will continue to Chicago where Cadet Hartzell is stationed as an ASTP student at DePaul University, Chicago. They will take up residence there in the Hermine apartments, No. 412, at 4108 Kenmore avenue.

DEALING WITH JAP BARBARISM

DETAILS of the murder or brutal treatment of thousands of American prisoners by the Japanese, released by the War and Navy departments at Washington, is shocking but is what most observers had suspected. Apparently the facts were known to officials for months before they were released to the public.

This story merely illustrates once again the handicaps under which civilized men operate when they are forced to fight barbarians. The tales of atrocities perpetrated by the Japs leave the reader with a sense of frustration. There is no possible manner of retaliation, save by continuing the war until Japan has been conquered.

American forces have captured fewer than 500 Japanese prisoners in the fighting in the Southwest Pacific. This can be interpreted two ways—U. S. forces do not care to be bothered with live Japs, or the Japs fight until death rather than permit themselves to be taken prisoner. Unfortunately, the latter explanation may be the more realistic one.

Brutality is ingrained in the Jap nature. They will continue to mistreat and murder prisoners that fall into their hands, and shocked references to the rules of war, etc., will continue to prove unavailing. The enormity of the task that confronts the United States in the Southwest Pacific is thus made more manifest. Expecting the same treatment they inflict on their foes, if for no other reason, the Nippon soldier will continue to resist to the end. Overwhelming fire power and bombing power that will obliterate all forms of animal life before it is required to bring the Japs to unconditional surrender.

This is what General MacArthur has been saying, in effect, for two years. The general has been unable to regard the trickle of men and materiel that has come his way as the utmost that the nation can spare for the war on the little yellow men. But the day can not be far distant when American armed might in the Pacific will be strengthened vastly and the Japs will begin to understand what it was they started at Pearl Harbor.

SAVILLE ROW WINS

British tailoring has been one of the empire's prides. Most good men's tailoring in other parts of the world is based upon a more or less conscious imitation of British models. When, therefore, in the spring of 1942, the British government imposed drastic restrictions upon the design of men's suits, it struck at a world famous aspect of British civilization—the well tailored men.

The British tailors' guild, under the leadership of the famed craftsman of Savile Row, never ceased to protest that the ban on double-breasted suits, trouser cuffs and four-pocket vests represented a negligible saving of cloth. Nevertheless, thousands of "austerity" style utility suits were manufactured. But the suits piled up in shops and warehouses. No one would purchase them. A black market trade in non-regulation suits began to flourish.

The British government has therefore decided to abandon the tailoring restrictions. Hereafter, British tailors will be free to make double-breasted suits, complete with trouser cuffs and pockets. The requirement of 26 coupons for a men's suit is to be retained, so there will be no great effluence of civilian Beau Brummels in London this spring. Practical-minded as ever, the British have found a use for the thousands of ready-made "austerity" suits which Englishmen wouldn't purchase or wear. The British Board of Trade is going to turn them over to UNRRA for the reclothing of Europe, thus proving that peace is going to have its horrors, no less than war.

LABOR DRAFT DOESN'T END STRIKES

Great Britain had 1775 strikes last year, the largest number in its history. Since the start of the war Great Britain has also had the most sweeping national service law ever established in a democratic country. What's the answer?

Originally confined to military service, this law has been expanded to the proportions of a general labor draft, taking both men and women, the latter up to the age of 40. Under a later regulation, the minister of labor is empowered to direct any person of any age to perform at the prevailing rate of pay for the job.

Workers may not change jobs without permission. There are stringent rules for dealing with absenteeism and tardiness. Virtually every able-bodied person must work at a job approved by the government, regardless of the location, which may be far distant from his home, and at a rate of wages which it fixes. When summoned by local labor exchanges, any person has to prove that his present employment is essential if he wishes to continue it instead of being transferred to another job regarded as of more national importance.

It is said that this system has helped war production, but it certainly has not prevented strikes, which in 1943 caused the loss of 1,800,000 man-days. Yet advocates of a labor draft for this country have urged its adoption as a strike preventive.

It is stated that no British strike has been of national extent in an essential war industry and that 50 per cent of the strikes lasted less than two days. But a total loss of 5,697,000 man-days since the war began is no trifling. Great Britain has an anti-strike law which, like our own, seems to have been enforced most sparingly.

Britain's experience with the labor draft doesn't indicate that we should follow its example for the sake of preventing strikes in wartime.
Our need for an anti-strike law inhere in it, supported by sincere, vigorous enforcement—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Democratic national committee met in Washington and was told it may go ahead with plans for a nation "convention" in July.

The allegation persists that Jap eyesight is poor. At any rate foresight never was worse than theirs when they attacked Pearl Harbor.

Another New Deal "commentator" has been dropped by his radio news sponsor. At this rate it will soon be possible for every American to tune in a radio station without being forced to indulge in strong language.

The Parent
Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HAPPY EVENINGS AT HOME

I want to recall a pleasant memory-picture of a certain home scene. It was a Saturday night at 7:30 the boys began to straggle in. It was not a formal party.
The boys just came, boys from 8 to 13, from the immediate neighborhood. It might have been any Saturday night. These same boys had been coming into that home for years.

Always, one or both parents were home when these youngsters gathered there. The young host of the family was about twelve. From his early years he had learned not to romp in the roughhouse indoors, and the visiting children soon caught on and conformed. But this host, and his young friends also had discovered all sorts of ways to have non-running, non-destructive fun. You see, when your child learns to play constructively, his young guests soon follow suit; when, on the other hand, he romps and is destructive, his young friends are worse than he when they visit, with the result that parents and double destruction soon don't welcome the children.

Quiet Fun

To go on with the memory-picture, in the group are two boys 10 and 11 living on the floor playing checkers, three younger ones near by playing "Pinch," a 13-year-old lad reading the newspaper comics, a smaller boy, finishing him, he is pulled down a volume of a children's encyclopaedia from the shelf and browsed through it, the small playmate showering him with questions stimulated by the pictures.
The older answering kindly.

In the kitchen were a boy 12 and one 13 popping corn, now and then some 10-year-olds. In the basement were three other boys in the work shop making some materials for a play they were to be in at school.

Later there was some reshuffling of groups, five entering a noisy but no-running, non-destructive game of Pinch. One who had been playing checkers turned to play records on the phonograph. The littlest boy went to the basement to look on and admire the work there.

At nine-thirty most of the boys went home. During all the evening jumping or roughhouse, though there was considerable vocal noise at times, which was harmless and did not annoy the parents who enjoyed it all.

Several years later some of these same children assembled often in this same home for wholesome fun with adolescent girls and other boys. The home can be made a wholesome, happy place for children and their friends.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

There has never, in my opinion, been a better definition of what constitutes a great man than the recent editorial in the New York Times on the occasion of Winston Churchill's return to London.
"There he stands," said the editorial, "in courage so sure that it need never plume itself; in faith as strong as the earth from which it springs; in cheerfulness that passes smiling into the dark valley; in honesty of purpose; in loyalty to even the most understanding of friends."

A great man, adds the editorial, is not necessarily correct in his opinions, a man may be sometimes wrong and still be a great man. He need not be always consistent. He is not an unvarying success, for great men have their unsuccessful moments.

"One doesn't know, but somewhere there is a deep mystery of personality. Out of the masses of men these men come when they are needed, out of log-cabins and also out of immemorial mansions."

There is a vast difference between greatness and success.

Many an eminently successful man (as the world measures success) may be very far from being great.

Greatness requires courage, faith, loyalty, honesty and tolerance. Success is often achieved by shrewdness, clever trading, complete lack of scruples and trickery.

I know a shoemaker who is a great man. I know a multi-millionaire who wallows in the mud of pettiness and conceit.

Everybody can be a Churchill.
He has qualities of brains and personality, which are heavenly gifts.

But everybody has the seeds of greatness in him—greatness that may make itself felt only among the few. But to them he is great in a personal way by giving them of his own courage, loyalty and faith.

Personally I have never wished for a lot of money because I know that I haven't the knack of making a lot of money. Maybe you are in the same boat.

Money-making is a gift with the gift of music, art and literature.

But you, in your own sphere, can help other people and make your influence for happiness and gracious living. You can be a loyal friend. You can be a loyal friend.
You can give them courage and share your faith with them.

Then, you too, may have greatness, even if it's only a little bit of it.

PERHAPS

The New Dealers are rallying around the president, to secure if possible his election this year as a Fourth Term President. They are doing this in spite of the president's evident desire to free himself of the stigma of New Dealism.

The president believes that the term "New Deal" is a drag on his desires to be perennial president of these United States. He wishes to be known as the "we won the war" president. And then the supporters of the president in his desires to remain in the White House are doing their utmost to discourage any competition this fall for the presidency. They think a presidential campaign this year would interfere materially with the winning of the war, that it will encourage Hitler and his associates to the last ditch because of the lack of unanimity of the citizens of the United States—a clear indication that they are not supporting the war aims of the president.

In other words, the New Dealers are shrugging their shoulders at the president's seeming effort to rid himself of being the head and shoulders of the New Deal, or as

Jackson Day Dinner Not So Successful
Old-Time Enthusiasm Absent This Year
Soldiers Sigh For The Solomon Islands

By HELEN ESSARY.

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In case you'd like to hear a little from me about that Hundred-Dollar-A-Plate Jackson Day dinner the Democrats dished up at the Mayflower for friends, well—

In words of one syllable—it did not quite make the grade. I hope my old friend, Charlie Michelson, Democratic publicity chief and one of the smartest men in anybody's country, won't be too cross with me for writing this. But Charlie himself knows I am speaking the truth when I say there was something missing in that costly celebration.
There was not any seasoning. The old-time Jacksonian flavor was missing. The show just did not come off.

The whole thing was a sort of rehash—you understand what I mean. You know how tasteless food always is when it has been standing around too long. It is flat and you sort of choke it down. You say, "That was undoubtedly a meal.
There was meat and potatoes and spinach. I know I've been fed. But I didn't enjoy a mouthful."

Too much reheating is hard on causes and food. And if a gallery eye's view of the Jacksonian banquet is worth noting I say upstairs in the ball room and look down on the best of 'em. Deal heads in Rooseveltian captivity; the boys and girls are not enjoying the Fourth or Reheated Term.

There is no reason why they should enjoy the Fourth and Reheated Term. And no reason to apologize for having lost their taste for the same menu. Sixteen years is a long time for anybody to stay in the White House.

Of course, they are—the term is politics going along. But how they hate it!

You felt this attitude in the atmosphere of the banquet. Even Senator Hattie Caraway of Riban-d-in-the-Hair (the day from Arkansas looked very well) didn't make the speaker's table festive. Nor the orchid corsages most of the top-notch ladies wore.

So many people of importance were present that an extra speaker had to be run along the side of the room opposite the table from which Speaker Sam Rayburn, Vice President Henry A. Wallace and War Correspondent Quentin Reynolds told the audience and the microphones that the New Deal would have jobs for every fighting man when the war is over.

I almost wrote "Vice President" Rayburn instead of "Speaker" Rayburn. Some folks keep saying that "Mr. Sam" from Texas will be the running mate of Mr. Roosevelt in 1944. Other folks say Wallace will again be the presidential choice.
The choice of Mr. Sam undoubtedly would please the southern conserva-

But so I hear Mr. Roosevelt may soon have to make an extra effort to please the left wingers. Some of the left wingers are pretty mad at the President. Maybe Wallace's re-nomination would calm their fears.

Jumping quickly to another field of talk—have you seen the new Lira with which Italy hopes to get its financial feet on the ground? It is a spectacular looking bank note and straight propaganda. On the back of the note are the Four Freedoms—in full. A notation says the bill was issued by the United Nations.

I heard a refreshing story the other day about several soldiers who hate being back in "The States" again. They sigh for those good old days in the Solomon Islands when life was really something.
Gosh, what food they had there.
And what care. Something going on every minute, day and night.

Contrast this nostalgia for the South Seas with the following quotation from—no, I can't tell you his name—but this is the quotation:
"Here I sit, south of the equator with the rooster birds on a God-forsaken, treeless, shrubless, grass-less, womanless, nativeless coral atoll. Not Hollywood's version of the South Seas by any means. No Dorothy Lamour, black or white.
Not even a black fuzzy Wuzzie—just insects and soldiers live here.
Even the mosquitoes can't stand the place."

"Some people say that three months after they get here the boys start talking to the gooney birds and say—"

It seems almost impossible to believe that so many accidents happen in our home.

Autumn falls down the cellar steps. Grandpa stumbles on the attic stairs. Jack falls off a rock-ing chair when he is hanging a picture.

Mother bumps her eye against an open cupboard door. Dad gets a splinter in his hand from the coal shovel handle.

Millie gets a sore foot from a nail in her shoe. Perhaps you could prevent some of these accidents. Be sure there is a good light for the cellar steps. Put some white paint on the lower step.

Put a good light bulb in the attic stairs. Do not pile stuff on the steps.

Never stand on a rocking chair.
Keep cupboard doors closed.

Be sure to smooth up the handle of shovels and hoes and rakes and hammers.

Never allow a nail to stick up out of the floor or a step or a shoe.

Democrats To Select Slate

State Committee To Meet On Friday To Select State Candidates

EXPECTED TO CALL FOR FOURTH TERM

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31—The 112-member Democratic state committee will meet at Harrisburg Friday to endorse a slate of handpicked candidates for the 1944 elections and spur a fourth term boom for President Roosevelt in Pennsylvania.

Secretary J. Warren Mickel said party chiefs had drafted a complete slate of statewide candidates following meetings with local leaders and the committee was expected to unanimously approve the selections. A resolution calling upon the president to seek another term would be adopted, Mickel added.

To Plan Campaign

Following the meeting, State Chairman David L. Lawrence and U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey were expected to prepare campaign strategy aimed at upsetting Republican candidates in the general election Nov. 7. The primary election will be held April 25 when 72 delegates to the national Democratic convention at Chicago will be chosen.

Mickel said Philadelphia leaders will name the party's candidate for the U. S. senate to replace the veteran James J. Davis. The disclosure emphasized the probability that U. S. Commissioner of Immigration Earl G. Harrison or Congressman Michael J. Bradley, both of Philadelphia, would receive the stamp of approval.

A lot of dissension, however, was voiced by Guffey. While Pennsylvania's junior senator agreed that the senatorial candidate should come from Philadelphia "or nearby," there were hints he had hopes of persuading Third Assistant Postmaster General Ramsey Black of Harrisburg or Congressman Francis E. Walters of Easton to be the candidate for the $10,000 a year job.

State Supreme Court

In addition to the senate, the committee will approve candidates for a 21-year term on the state supreme court, the superior court, auditor general and state treasurer.

Federal Judge Guy K. Bard, attorney general during the Earle administration, appeared to have outdistanced possible candidates mentioned for the $19,500 a year high court post. If slated, he will oppose incumbent Justice Howard W. Hughes of Washington, named to the bench in December by Gov. Edward Martin. The former Washington county jurist, has announced his candidacy for a full term.

Superior Court Judge Chester M. Rhodes of Scrubburg was assured the party's endorsement for another 10-year term while Auditor General P. Clair Ross of Butler was reported to have been slated as the 1944 candidate seeking the $18,000 a year seat left vacant last month by the death of Judge Joseph B. Stadfield of Pittsburgh. Republicans have indicated they would not oppose Rhodes.

There appeared to be nothing to prevent State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner from winning the job of attempting to continue Democratic control of the auditor general's office for another four years. Wagner, of Penn Lake, has announced his candidacy.

John F. Breslin, executive assistant of Ross, has announced his candidacy for the office which Wagner must vacate in May, 1945, because of constitutional provision prohibiting two successive terms.

Can Vitamins Change GRAY HAIR?

Brunette Blonde Redhead

Impartial investigators have found vitamin Calcium Pantothenate of some value in changing gray hair, where a deficiency of this vitamin may have caused gray or graying hair.

For example, one test conducted by Good Housekeeping magazine on a number of people, showed 88% of those tested (all ages were included) had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amounts used in above tests) PLUS 450 U.S.P. units of B₁₂, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply $1.50, 100 day supply $4.00.

Can Still Enroll For War Training Special Courses

Although classes begin tomorrow night at 6:30 in the New Castle Senior high school, men and women may still enroll for special war training courses by registering at the first class session, according to Dr. E. A. Metcalf, director of Engineering, Science and Management courses for Westminster college.

Classes in engineering drawing and qualifying mathematics are given by Carnegie Institute of Technology through Westminster college for persons of the New Castle district. Part of the government's free adult education program, the courses are designed to prepare workers for essential positions in local war industries.

Taught by Prof. C. H. Leeds, the course in qualifying mathematics provides special training in mathematics for high school graduates whose training has been incomplete in this field. It is also designed for those who wish to refresh their knowledge of basic algebra and trigonometry before going on to advanced ESMWT courses for engineers and physicists. The class is especially adapted for women and older men.

Both courses are given every Tuesday and Thursday evening for a 14-week period. Only requirement for admission to the classes is high school graduation with some work in mathematics.

'Here Comes The Bride' March Out Of Weddings

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31—(INS)—Because it is a "bedroom march" and not a wedding march, the sweet strains of "Here Comes The Bride" has been banned from Catholic weddings.

The Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, in a sermon at Sacred Heart church, further explained: "Wagner's great march is superb secular music, but it is of the earth. It recalls too much of the world and has no place within the sacred edifice at a religious function."

"For any bride to ask such a march shows appalling ignorance of what happened to the bride immediately after it (in the opera 'Lohengrin'); it led to the greatest tragedy of the opera and should make any bride shudder."

"Hence," he concluded, "the Catholic church with consummate good taste and good sense and fine feeling forbids it."

Mission Boys Help Allies To Defeat The Japs

CHICAGO—(INS)—Christian Missionaries helped secure Port Moresby for the Allied forces and prevented many thousands of casualties in the New Guinea area, according to the Rev. John D. Boddy, missionary of the Church of England to the Papians. He addressed the 50th jubilee meeting of the Foreign Mission Conference of North America in Chicago recently.

It was at Dogura, 30 miles northwest of the Allied naval base at Milne Bay that the first Allied success of the war in the Pacific was effected in August, 1942, the missionary pointed out.

Papuan boys, friends of the mission, prevented dozens of Jap soldiers from crossing mission territory and regaining Buna in the two weeks that followed, he declared.

"The real job of cooperation in New Guinea was done by 10,000 native boys, who helped in the defense of Port Moresby. They did the work of a motor transport division in the Owen Stanley range, which the Japanese had to cross to reach Port Moresby," the missionary continued.

"They carried food and ammunition into the mountains to supply Allied fighters, and on the trip down they carried the Allied wounded in litters. Had it not been for their Christian education, I do not believe many of them would have left their homes to aid the Allies with such faithfulness."

MOUSE TRAPS SCARCE
SO CAT DOES THE JOB
CAMP CAMPBELL, Ky.—(INS)—If the Army's quartermaster can supply requisitioned items they'll send a reasonable facsimile. At least, that was proven recently to Lieut. Col. Kent Lane.

Col. Lane placed an order with the Camp Campbell quartermaster for 100 traps to rid 20th Armored Division warehouses of mice. The requisition went through all necessary channels and was returned to the colonel with the following notation:

"Sorry, we are just out of mouse traps, but we are sending you one of our best tom cats and we are positive it can do the job." Tabby has done a swell job.

Hitler's Speech Sounded Strange

Significant Omissions Feature Harangue On Eleventh Anniversary Occasion

By PIERRE J. HUSS (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The significant omissions in Adolf Hitler's 11th anniversary speech today overshadowed his monotonous charge that unless Germany wins the war, Bolshevism will overrun Europe. Season observers in London who heard the broadcast of his address were agreed that it must have sounded strange if not ludicrous to the millions of Germans who now are feeling the full weight of Allied aerial bombardment.

For once he did not make even the usual retaliatory threats and his promises of eventual German victory were hollow in the extreme. There was considerable speculation as to just where Hitler stood when he spoke on his eleventh anniversary of his rise to power. It appeared obvious he was not in Berlin, and certainly not Frankfurt, Brunswick or Hanover, for a visit to either of these four cities over the week-end would have made it impossible for him to gloss over the tremendous devastation wrought in each of them by recent cyclonic air attacks.

Berlin Badly Wrecked
Late Stockholm reports gave details of the most recent destruction in Berlin. These say that the vast shopping district of the Leipzigerstrasse, including the block-long Wertheim department store, one of the largest in Europe, has disappeared.

Also missing is Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's town house, while Berlin's police headquarters on the Potsdamerplatz is a shambles. Mere cavities in the streets have replaced the once famous Haus Vaterland Columbus restaurants, once the mecca of foreign visitors to Berlin.

According to Stockholm reports, Hitler's street-long chancellery along the Vossstrasse just behind Wertheim was hit again. It now is a hoped-for probability that his own lavishly furnished oak-paneled office, distinguished by a carved "A.H." above the doorway instead of a swastika or an eagle, has been destroyed. British officialdom found nothing to reply to in Hitler's 20-minute speech, taking the attitude he was merely sticking to his last-ditch hope of dividing the Allied Nations by spreading distrust and harping on his old anti-Communist theme.

Son Of State Supreme Court Justice Missing

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—First Lieut. John H. Stewart, son of Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Marion D. Patterson, today has been reported as "missing in action" in the New Guinea area.

The 26-year-old youth enlisted shortly after Pearl Harbor. He became a sergeant and transferred to the air corps, where he won his commission and was sent to the south Pacific area last year.

While home on his last furlough, Stewart was admitted to the Blair county bar, with his father administering the oath. He was graduated from Yale law school in 1941.

JAP ATTEMPT TO MEET CHARGES OF BARBARIC ACTIONS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS)—American charges of barbaric treatment of war prisoners by the Japanese were today met by an American attempt to establish barbarism as a part of the war by the Tokyo radio today.

The stories were put out "to aid flagging morale in the United States," Tokyo declared. The broadcast was picked up by NBC.

SOVIET NORTHERN ARMY APPROACHES ESTONIAN BORDER

Estonian border, is eight miles from Kingisepp, the last rail junction short of the frontier on the line to Narva.

Soviets Break Through

The Germans had stubbornly defended Siversky south of Gatchina in an effort to prevent a further advance of Red troops along the Gatchina-Luga railway line. The Soviets finally broke their resistance yesterday and at the end of the day Siversky was cleared of all Germans.

Three Russian armies are now pushing back the Germans on a 230-mile northern front from Novosokolniki in the south of the Gulf of Finland.

Thousands of men already were at work repairing the Moscow-Leningrad railroad, the use of which is expected to increase the Russian offensive power for planned operations in the Baltics.

Gen. Kilbi A. Mergskoff commanded one army that cut the railway to Vitebsk running through Batetskaya and seized Velikoye Selo 17 miles southeast of Luga, which is a junction on the last German line to Pskov.

This thrust, complemented by others to the northeast, put Batetskaya within reach. There a spur line links the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway with the Leningrad-Pskov line at Luga, 18 miles to the west.

In separate sectors the spectacular ski troops were successful in action. In fighting for one inhabited locality they completely wiped out two companies of Germans and captured an ammunition dump.

With Gen. Leonid A. Govoroff's Leningrad army racing toward the enemy gap and, to the south, another column led by Gen. Meretskoff sweeping everything before it, the fleeing Germans seemed to be caught in a pincers whose prongs are setting closer and squeezing tighter each day.

ARMY SHOW BOND SALES $1,381,000

rhythm, style and a fast tempo. As for the house for both shows, they were an actor's dream.

Well Balanced

The show has been built with an expert eye to timing and balance. There was just enough of everything. Just enough of band music, vocal solos, comedy and burlesque. It was two hours of a skillfully prepared and cleverly presented potpourri of entertainment.

Naming the various acts wouldn't add much to this article and it would contribute to the paper shortage. But the vocalizing of Robert Dexter and Thomas Glenn, the harp playing of Anthony Bove, the zany music of Mandrake Cohen, the dancing of Eddie Branch, the roller skating of Morris Cohen and Joe Delp, these stands out as entertainment right out of the top drawer. And over it all the smooth, Fadianlike work of Sergeant Smith who "emceed" the show throughout.

Nice Money For A Helmet

At intermission time a captured German helmet was auctioned off from the stage. Prior to that a number of wounded veterans present as guests were introduced, an announcement of another motion picture premier for bond sales was made, that of "A Guy Named Joe" to be seen in the Penn theatre Thursday, February 10, under the auspices of the theatre owners of the city. Then the auction.

A bid of $100 started it off. A bid of $200 topped it and the bid battle was on. A bid of $5,000 took it up into the higher brackets and from there it went on up to $30,000. Jack Gerston, well known jeweler, came up to the stage, signed an order for bonds and made out checks for $30,000.

Judge Braham Speaks

Judge W. Walter Braham, chairman of the Fourth War Loan campaign was introduced and spoke briefly. After expressing his appreciation of the 3000 or more being present he cited some casualty figures of the Germans on the Russian front. In one town of 33,000 near the Swiss border 3,785 obituaries were counted in a newspaper. Judge Braham urged a continued interest in the bond campaign, and expressed confidence that this county would exceed its quota.

Bringing the show to New Castle and handling the details of it, the distribution of reserved seats and a dozen other details were handled by Clarence M. England insofar as it was possible to observe, without a hitch.

Following the evening show, the cast of 40 was entertained in the Legion Home by the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343. Early Sunday the men went back to New Cumberland after having given New Castle a top-notch show and aided immeasurably in the Fourth War Loan here.

"Pennsylvania on Parade" is grand entertainment. The soldiers proved this twice here on Saturday.

Since the war the shift of population in the United States has been toward the west and the south, with a total population shift of about two and a half million persons.

FAMED WIDENER ESTATE IS SOLD FOR DEVELOPMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Sale of 220 acres of the famed Widener estate in Elkins Park, Cheltenham township, for use as a suburban post-war housing development was announced today.

The property, which includes the nationally-known private racetrack built by the late Joseph E. Widener, was purchased by Harry A. Robinson, Philadelphia real estate developer.

"Lynwood Hall," famous Widener mansion, and 30 acres surrounding it are not included in the sale. Although the purchase price was not announced, Wayne Herkness, Jenkintown real estate agent who negotiated the transaction, said the land was held for sale at $600,000 and is assessed at $428,000 by Montgomery county.

REEBE'S BATHYSOPHERE HATHS GONE TO WAR

NEW YORK.—(INS)—The bathysphere has gone to war.

The famous odd-looking underwater observation sphere, formerly used by Dr. William Beebe for the study of deep sea marine life, has been put to use in war service to test depth charges, to determine the most effective use of these weapons against the submarine.

The announcement was made recently by Fairfield Osborn, president of the New York Zoological society. Other research problems on which the society has worked at the request of army and navy ranged all the way from methods of repelling sharks to the improvement of electric batteries.

The zoo, in its war-time functions, also has been called upon to help in experiments for the manufacture of drinkable water from sea-water and for the study of parasitized fish used as food for human beings.

Nearly 4000 Tons Of Explosive Are Dropped On Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—More than 3,900 tons of explosives were dropped on the German war machine in the 48-hour period ending Sunday by American strategic air forces, striking from both England and Italy, the U. S. Army Air Force announced today.

Sunday's operations alone involved more than 1,700 planes. During the attacks against Frankfurt and Brunswick and on airfields in Northern Italy, 250 enemy aircraft were destroyed. Fighters accounted for 131 while bombers shot down the rest.

As against this, the U. S. Army Air Force lost 54 bombers and 21 fighters but the number of enemy planes destroyed on the ground in Northern Italy alone was larger than the American bomber loss.

VAST SOURCE OF ENERGY IS DISCOVERED

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Pure magnetic currents, flowing through the universe in the same manner as electrical currents, experimentally have been proven to exist by Prof. Felix Ehrenhaft, well known Viennese physicist.

The scientist, a refugee from Hitler's Europe, shocked a meeting of the American Physical Society at Columbia University by calmly announcing that experiments conducted in his New York laboratory have convinced him that "not only electrical currents but also magnetic currents go through the universe."

A Great Discovery
Physicists present observed that if the experiments are corroborated by others they will mark one of the greatest revolutions in modern science—tantamount in fact to Michael Faraday's discovery of the principle of the dynamo 113 years ago.

As Faraday's epochal discovery heralded the age of electricity, so Ehrenhaft's theory, assuming its validity, would usher in a new era of technology predicted on currents of magnetism.

It would mean, one leading physicist pointed out, that we would "double" the possibilities for building machines. For every electrical machine now extant we would be able to construct a machine employing magnetic instead of electrical current.

Proves Charges Exist
The entire concept of electromagnetism has hitherto been erected on the formula, evolved by Perigun some 700 years ago. He contended that magnetism has direction but no motion and that only electricity can move.

Prof. Ehrenhaft's experiments prove for the first time that single magnetic charges exist—either north or south—and that there is magnetic flux. He explained that magnetic currents coexist with electrical, and that henceforth the two may have to be represented by one symbol.

Magical Numbers For Titans Are Seen

It may be the magic of numbers or maybe it's just habit, but certain scores have persisted in recent Westminster Titan basketball games. On New Year's eve, the Titans dumped the Pitt Panthers 82-64. In the very next game, Camp Reynolds gained revenge on Westminster by winning over the locals, 64-45. Just four days later, the Titans triumphed over Bethany by a 64-56 score.

And then to carry it on further, four more days later, the Juniata Indians smacked Westminster 64-46. Now it looks as if Westminster is off again. Wednesday night, the Washabaughmen gained a victory over Wash-Jeff, 46-39. They're off again!

HOW MUCH AM I BID FOR THIS WONDERFUL CHAIR?

WIFE: I'm heartbroken. Some other woman bid $50 for that chair I wanted. It was the last one. HUSBAND: You're lucky. It wasn't worth half that price.

HUSBAND: What we really need is a radio. We have too many chairs. WIFE: Nothing the matter with the radio we have. Besides you can't buy a new radio. The Army and Navy need every set that can be made. HUSBAND: I know a fellow who can get me one. WIFE: Black Market, I'll bet.

HUSBAND: Jim got a telegram today. His boy is missing in action. WIFE: That's a real sacrifice, John. He was their only child.

HUSBAND: We aren't making many sacrifices, are we? WIFE: No. Better forget about that radio. HUSBAND: And your chair. TOGETHER: And use that extra money to help the boys win the war.

Seven Things the War Advertising Council Asks You to Do:

1. Buy only what you need
2. Pay no more than ceiling prices... buy rationed goods only with stamps
3. Pay off old debts and avoid making new ones
4. Support higher taxes... pay them willingly
5. Provide for the future with adequate life insurance and savings
6. Don't ask more money for goods you sell or work you do
7. Buy all the War Bonds you can afford—and keep them

HUSBAND: How about a war bond? WIFE: Safest place to put our money. HUSBAND: After the war I can buy you a real chair, and have enough left over for a radio—probably a television radio. TOGETHER: It's a deal. We both win. Let's buy another $100 bond now.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN WIN

The steady reduction in the price of American automobiles... from those noisy, hand-cranked "go-devils" that only the very wealthy could afford, to the luxurious, streamlined "honey" of 1942, priced within reach of almost every family... was one of the major triumphs of American industry and mass production. It did more than provide low-cost transportation. It revolutionized American life. It made millions of jobs.

What is true of the automobile is just as true of washing machines, radios, electric refrigerators, and many other things that make the American standard of living the highest in the world. Alcoa Aluminum is another example. In 1939 it sold for 20¢ a pound. Today the price is 15¢ a pound.

Inflation makes things cost more, not less. It can make it impossible for you to buy a new automobile or many of the other things you want. Your purchases of War Bonds today do help lessen the danger of inflation tomorrow. Think twice before you say you can't afford to buy an extra War Bond.

GHOST TOWN IS CREATED BY ERROR OF U. S.

AKRON, O., Jan. 31.—(INS)—An eight million dollar miscalculation has created a deluxe ghost town in less than a year's time at the Ohio village of Windham.

The village, adjacent to the huge Ravenna Ordnance plant, was selected as the site of a 2,400-unit housing project by government officials, who estimated 20,000 workers would be needed at the arsenal.

Everything But Tenants
Today the project is complete with every thing but residents. It has a motion picture theater, supermarkets, drug stores and in the houses are refrigerators and stoves.

Altogether only 300 of the modern housing units are occupied. More than 2,000 are finished and vacant. The arsenal work force is only 7,000.

The project was begun in July, 1942, and today row after row of empty houses face onto muddy streets and Windham continues as a rustic Ohio village.

Akron Too Far Away
Hopes for rectifying the blunder aren't bright. Located only 30 miles from Akron, which is faced with a severe housing shortage for immigrant war workers, the project is being considered by manpower officials as an answer to their problem.

A bus service to transport workers to and from Akron war plants is being considered but the distance and the expense damped the project. Sixteen-passenger buses may be obtained from the Army in the event the proposal is adopted.

Moving Too Costly
Another suggestion advanced is that the homes be dismantled and rebuilt in Akron. It would take from six to eight months if available workmen could be obtained and it would cost two million dollars to move 1,000 of the units.

A third proposal urges that Italian prisoners of war be brought to the area and given quarters in the project, thereby providing a supply of manpower to nearby industries. The uncertain status of the Italian prisoners since Italy became a co-belligerent interferes with the idea.

ONCE SAVED BY DEER, MAN RETURNS FAVOR

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—(INS)—One good turn deserves another. So, when H. F. Beverage, a West Penn Power Company operator, saw a deer trapped in six-inch ice on Lake Lynn, he went into action to return a favor.

Beverage was dumped into the lake last fall when his boat upset, and rode safely to shore on the back of a deer swimming nearby. Recently he saw a buck trapped by the ice on Lake Lynn. He found a plank, carried it to the icy lake, slipped it under the deer and pushed the exhausted animal to shore. There he covered the animal with his mackinaw, and went for a rope to tie its feet while he completed the rescue by drying it.

Beverage returned to see the deer dashing over a hill. The buck fell, and he turned it over to a game warden, who nursed it back to health.

Report Confession In Six Murders In 'Lover's Lane'

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Capture of the "mad killer" of Duck Island and his confession to six "lovers' lane" murders in the Trenton area had been announced today by Mercer county authorities. Although the name of the captive was not disclosed, they identified him as an army private who lived close to the famous trysting place for Trenton lovers before his induction.

Police said the man was arrested a week ago at Fort Dix, where he was reportedly a member of a Negro regiment, and stated that on Saturday he re-enacted in full detail the crimes which shocked a nation in the falls of 1938, 1939 and 1940.

New Jersey and Pennsylvania authorities also revealed that the prisoner confessed several attacks on couples in Bucks county, near Washington's Crossing, almost directly across the Delaware from the stretch of partially filled land covered with scrub brush and stunted trees that is called Duck Island.

In an effort to tighten the case against the suspect, police and military police from Fort Dix searched yesterday in Bucks county close to the banks of the Delaware for the shotgun the prisoner allegedly said he used in all the crimes. Police stated he confessed burying it there in shallow ground.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

ing to justify their attempt, will be much stronger with the men in uniform than with others.

THERE ARE TWO reasons. One is that between the army special service and the OWI foreign service there is no way to get any political information to the armed forces abroad which the Administration thinks undesirable for them to have. The whole business is bottled up and no amount of breast-beating protest of how pure the hearts of the Administration's propagandists and how nonpartisan they intend to be alters that situation. It is a setup that precludes anything like an effective presentation of facts unfavorable to a fourth-term candidacy—and there is no use pretending it is not.

THERE IS ALSO the consideration that the army and navy are always concerned in keeping up morale. From their standpoint, it would seem an evidence of poor morale for the troops to vote against the "Commander in Chief" while the war is on. There would be a natural disinclination to do that anyhow. Furthermore, it is contended, the high military and naval authorities prefer to have no change and this feeling is certain to seep down through the subordinate officers to the ranks. In brief, an election conducted among the uniformed men, as it is proposed to conduct this one, is a one-sided affair and there is no way to make it otherwise, which is why the fourth termers clutched over the situation. In their view the message was a superb political stroke.

FULLY AWARE of all this, the Republicans and anti-fourth-term Democrats are suffering a good deal of pain. They dislike intensely having the other side put them in the position of opposing the vote for "uniformed men." Everybody wants the uniformed men to vote, but that does not make it less distasteful to the Roosevelt opposition to know that wholesale delivery of the uniformed vote to Mr. Roosevelt is being planned. What makes it particularly distasteful is the noble and holy air of being concerned solely with the rights of the servicemen, with which the President and his political friends, including Mr. Murray, of the CIO, are pushing the bill.

CONCEDING the handicaps under which the bill would put them, the Republicans have been trying to effect a compromise by which, to some degree, these can be nullified. But whatever the bill's final form there is no way wholly to offset: (1) the advantage of the Roosevelt position as Commander in Chief; (2) the inability to get to the soldiers with an effective presentation of the failure of Mr. Roosevelt's management of the war on the home front, and the distasteful effects of his lack of a labor policy on the whole war picture. However, these things do not justify refusing the soldiers the vote and, in the end, a bill will be passed. About all the Republicans can do, then, is to make the best

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

WITH MR. ROOSEVELT, of course, there is no necessity to advertise his personality and if the other side is unable to campaign his friends think the "Commander in Chief" argument is about all he needs, and that hardly has to be made. That is the way they reason. Of course, a considerable number of soldiers are not yet of voting age; a considerable number will not bother to vote and a considerable number will vote against Mr. Roosevelt. But allowing for all that the advantage still will be with the President. It may not elect him, but it certainly will help him.

CHIMPANZEE GOES ON WATER-WAGON

ERIE, Pa.—(INS)—Whisky rationing has forced "Scrap," Glenwood Zoo's popular chimpanzee, to go on the water-wagon after enjoying an ounce or two of whisky daily in his coffee for 12 years.

His keeper, Carl "Rip" Mangold, says he is honestly trying to get the chimp a ration book that will entitle him to a "fifth" of fire-water every six weeks, just as humans get under rationing.

"All the time Scrap has his whisky," Mangold said, "we had little trouble with him, outside of his rambages. When we shut him off, he got a really bad cold. He's just getting over it now."

even suggesting that either we have no presidential election in November or that we use the usual trick of the Axis States and everybody vote for the president.

The president, in the first of his trans-oceanic trips returned to the United States by way of Brazil and there he had a conference with President Vargas of Brazil. Brazil is a Republic, ostensibly, and has a constitution providing for the election of president ever so often. But Vargas has managed to circumvent the constitution to the extent of doing away entirely with presidential elections and holding the office of president, seemingly, as long as he desires. It is possible that Vargas advised our president on this occasion to do likewise; that he had every opportunity of putting such a thing across because of the war emergency and the president may be possibly falling for it, just as the Kaiser, the Emperor of Germany, fell for the suggestion of Roosevelt.

It will be remembered that Theodore Roosevelt on his return from Africa stopped off to visit the Kaiser and the Kaiser displayed his Armed Forces in magnificent review for the edification of Theodore, that Theodore rose to the occasion and in his customary hale-hearted manner slapped the Kaiser on the back and said: "With such an army as this you could lick the world." It is reported that the Kaiser believed him, took his suggestion to heart and started in to lick the world. Perhaps Roosevelt II is disposed to fall in like manner, for the suggestion of Vargas.

I really think there are some Americans who believe—thoroughly believe—that F. D. R. should remain president of these United States just as long as he wishes; that it would be a cruel blow to remove him from the scene to which he has so long been accustomed; that home to F. D. R. would be a strange place now unless it was in the White House.

There are, nevertheless, a very large number of citizens of this nation who have other ideas and other plans for the presidency.

FLIERS ESCAPE

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Barksdale Field officials reported today that two army air force officers escaped unhurt in separate crash landings of their P-39 fighters.

One of them, Lieut. Phillip D. Rodgers of Greensburg, Pa., crashed near Minden, La. Home bases of the pilots were not disclosed.

EDUCATORS TO STUDY TYPHUS AND MALARIA

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(INS)—Typhus fever and malaria control work in Guatemala and Costa Rica will be studied by two Syracuse University Medical college faculty members under grants from the John and Mary Markle Foundation of New York. The educators are Dr. Orren D. Chapman, professor of bacteriology and parasitology, and Dr. Bertram Levinson, assistant professor of clinical medicine.

Working with the committee of Inter-American Affairs and with the approval of the U. S. Army and Navy, they will observe clinical cases and pathological material at San Juan de Dios hospital in San Jose, Costa Rica, visit public health institutions and make observations of cases in Quirigua, Guatemala. They will conclude their trip with a study of public health activities in Guatemala City.

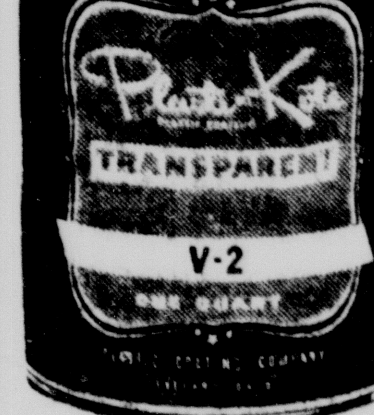

Returning in March, they will utilize their findings in the teaching of tropical and sub-tropical disease control.

Says U. S. Must Redouble Effort To Defeat Japan

Senator Bridges Asserts "Unrealistic" Policy Toward Japan Must Be Ended

(Editor's Note: Sen. H. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) declares in the following exclusive article that the United States must end its "unrealistic" policy toward Japan and redouble its efforts to win the Japanese war quickly.)

By SEN. H. STYLES BRIDGES (R) Of New Hampshire
Member Senate Military Affairs Committee

(Written Especially for INS.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The murder and torture of American prisoners of war by the Japanese is a black page in the history of civilization. But what are we going to do about it?

We cannot, of course, disregard our own obligations to society and refuse to obey the international conventions for treatment of prisoners. We cannot allow ourselves to sink to the Japanese level.

But we can adopt a realistic policy toward Japan. We have not done that and it is time that we take stock of the situation and unite on such a policy that will bring us victory in the shortest possible time.

Are we doing everything we can to intensify the warfare against Japan? First of all, it is evident that there still is too much division of authority in prosecuting the warfare against Japan. The sphere of operations of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who not only has shown a genius for modern warfare but whose heart and soul is in the utter defeat of Japan, is not sufficiently defined nor broad enough to make full use of his talents.

I believe a unification and clarification of our plans for defeating Japan would inspire greater confidence among our people. We cannot, of course, weaken our forces in Europe, but before we curtail our war production let us make sure we have ships, weapons, supplies and planes on the Japanese front.

Second, we must give the people a true and vivid picture of the foe we face. We now learn officially for the first time in two years of the despicable murders by the Japanese. But the British were informed a year ago of almost equally brutal treatment of prisoners and civilians by the Japanese.

Third, let us through diplomatic channels ascertain the true intent and purpose of Russia with regard to the war against Japan. We have not, and do not now, complain because Russia has not established a "second front" against Japan. However, there is a general belief that we lack any knowledge as to Russia's position and intentions in the Orient. We should know and, I believe, can ascertain without offense.

Fourth, let us all review the unrealistic policy our officials took toward Japan for many years. I recall that as far back as 1937 I sought to prevent shipment of scrap iron to Japan. Administration officials cried "don't let us offend Japan."

Our generals and admirals in the Pacific have proved that American soldiers, sailors and marines are superior to the Japanese. But they have continually warned us not to underestimate Japan. Yet many have continued to underestimate Japan.

So I say, let's have an end to this unrealistic policy. Let's give the American people all the truth about the Japanese war. And let's redouble our efforts to win it, and to win it quickly.

GUFFEY CLAIMS HE WAS OUSTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Chairmanship of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee was vacant today with Sen. Joseph Guffey (D-Pa.) claiming he was ousted from that post by Majority Leader Barkley.

Barkley said Guffey had resigned, but the Pennsylvania in a formal statement later declared he was "removed." Guffey promised a full explanation of his alleged removal and a reply to Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who accused him of "contemptible" action in trying to force appointment of a physician to a District of Columbia hospital.

Byrd's attack followed a recent stinging charge by Guffey that the Virginian headed a bloc of southern Democrats who had formed "an unholy alliance" with Republicans to defeat the federal ballot soldier vote bill some weeks ago. Byrd at that time demanded Guffey's resignation as chairman of the Democratic senatorial committee.

The majority leader said the approaching elections made it necessary to activate the committee and declared Guffey was ineligible to continue in the chairmanship because of a custom which denies the post to any man in whose state there is a senatorial campaign.

Those mentioned as possible new candidates for the committee post included Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.).

Hollywood Is Speculating On Harmon Romance

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Hollywood was speculating today about the impending reunion of Elyse Knox, film starlet, and Lieut. Tommy Harmon, former football all-American and more recently an air force hero in China.

Miss Knox is to be a guest at the Harmon family home in Ann Arbor, Mich. She is expected to stay for two weeks.

Harmony, who twice has turned up after being reported missing in crashes, is now there on leave.

Friends here won't make any predictions, but they recall that Elyse and the ex-glider star, once announced their engagement. More recently, she had been rumored as being interested in John Payne.

Widow To Receive Col. Watt's Awards

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 31.—Four honorary decorations post-humously awarded to Lieut. Col. James R. Watt, son of Mrs. Alyce Watt of 1315 Kensington avenue, will be presented to his widow February 1 at the auditorium of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., at Turtle Creek, Pa.

His widow is Mrs. Elizabeth Watt. Colonel Watt was lost in the North Pacific last May 23 during an engagement with 16 Japanese heavy bombers near Attu. Six fighter planes in a group commanded by Colonel Watt shot down 12 bombers in a half hour. He failed to return to his base after his engine was disabled by enemy gunfire.

Members of his squadron told his wife that there is a strong possibility that he is still alive and a prisoner of the Japanese. They believe he landed at Kiska and was captured there. The army has officially listed him as killed in action.

Colonel Watt was a graduate of Struthers high school and Westminster College. He was employed in Canton for a short time until he enlisted in the army air force. He was stationed in Hawaii and in the Aleutian Islands.

Gold Star Is Pinned On First Christian Church Service Flag At Service Sunday

Memorial services in honor of Pvt. Ivor J. Lewis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivor J. Lewis of 630 Morton street, were conducted at the First Christian church, Sunday morning when a gold star was pinned to the service flag of the church, with a ceremony befitting the occasion. Pvt. Lewis was killed in action while fighting with the Marines in the South Pacific area.

During the course of the morning service the ceremony was performed by Cpl. Robert Leasure, Junior Deacon of the church, assisted, securing the star from the pastor, Dr. G. S. Bennett, which was handed to Miss Sarah Catherine Lewis, sister of the young hero, who pinned it to the church's service flag, while Earl C. Moffatt and Charles E. Allen of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, of which the father is a member, stood at attention as a guard of honor.

Dr. Bennett gave a brief memorial sermon, eulogizing the young man's heroism. He also read letters from Brig. Gen. A. A. Vandergriff, Commander of the U. S. Marines in the South Pacific; and Major W. K. Jones, commander of the First Bn. Sixth Marines, the young man's commanding officer, in which they praised his courage and devotion to duty.

Pvt. Lewis is the second young man from the First Christian church, who has given his life for his country. Pvt. Frank J. Murphy of Park avenue, having been killed in the landing on Sicily last summer.

Examine Men For Coming Draft Call

Examinations Conducted At Pittsburgh Saturday And Today Under New System

Examination has been completed for the men called up for service by the selective service boards with headquarters in New Castle, under the new examination system.

Under the new plan, the men go to the Pittsburgh induction center, where they are given the customary examination. This, however, is not preceded by the preliminary examination formerly conducted by the local board.

When accepted, the men return to their homes to await call, but must receive three weeks notice before they are inducted. They are not sworn in at the induction station.

Men from City Board Two and County Board Two were examined Saturday, and those from City Board One are being examined today. The first call is said to be light.

Garbage Strike In Pittsburgh Is Continued

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Pittsburgh's menacing garbage strike continued into its 18th day today, with city council and AFL refuse drivers apparently still at an impasse.

The collectors had scheduled a back-to-work vote yesterday, but called it off when council issued a stern admonition that it would not negotiate with the union until the men were back on their jobs.

Union local President William Miller admitted the vote was called off because council's rebuff left him "nothing to offer the men," who are seeking wage increases.

Council has also indicated it intends to go through with the opening of bids tomorrow for garbage collection by private contractors. City officials have set Wednesday as the "must day" for collections regardless of the status of the strike.

PUPILS RETURN NATRONA HEIGHTS, Pa.

NATRONA HEIGHTS, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Students at the Har-Brack Union high school returned to their classrooms today, but demanded use of the school auditorium for the election of a parent-student committee to discuss "long-smoldering grievances."

Mrs. Florence Camp, a member of the board of public assistance of Allegheny County and elected by the students to represent them, declared that although the strike had been precipitated by the discharge of instructor J. Ernest Wright, the students "had many other grievances."

"They resent the lack of publication of funds collected from sports contests and they feel that students should be allowed more activities in the school," Mrs. Camp said.

MIDGET BABY MAY GROW TO BE TALL

DENVER, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The stork that delivered tiny Robert Eugene Clough, may not have been a very large one but its right with Robert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clough of Ogden, Utah.

Robert, Sr., a mechanic at Hill Field, met his wife, Mary Woods, in Denver last year. The two lit off right away as Robert is just four-feet-three inches and Mary is exactly four-feet high. Soon after they were married.

Just recently, Mrs. Clough came to Denver to be with her parents.

LABOR AT 50 CENTS A DAY CALLED HIGH

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS.)—Home from an aerial round trip to Portugal Prof. Richard Bradford of the Cornell Agronomy Department said there is no labor problem in that country. Labor can be obtained for 50 to 60 cents a day in American money.

Eighty per cent of the population has great difficulty in getting enough food, he declared.

Representing the U. S. State Department at an Agricultural Congress in Portugal Prof. Bradford visited a farm of 35,000 acres, where he saw the management using two men to handle a team of eight oxen and a plow. They plowed a half acre a day. There were 18 teams at work.

He said that one man with a tractor could have accomplished as much work in a day as all the oxen and 36 men. He asserted he did not see how the management could afford to pay 50 cents a day unless more was accomplished.

Curtiss D. Wilbur, former secretary of the navy, once referred to the navy as the "greatest educational institution in the world."

HELPFUL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

HOW TO CURE THAT STICKY IRON

Don't "cuss" at a sticky sole plate on your electric iron. Here's an easy cure. Heat the iron, then rub the iron over a piece of paper sprinkled with salt. This removes starch or other substances. Then wax the sole plate by rubbing paraffin or beeswax over it. Finally remove the excess wax by running the iron over a clean piece of paper. Burnt starch may be removed with fine steel wool when iron is cool.

- 1 Never iron over buttons, snaps, zippers or hooks and eyes. Such objects score the sole plate of the iron.
- 2 Use extreme care to avoid dropping your iron. You may break some vital part that is impossible to replace.
- 3 Be sure iron is cool before putting it away. And don't wrap cord around the hot iron.
- 4 Take good care of your iron cord. Don't let it kink. Pull out plug by grasping plug, not the cord.

SOME OTHER HINTS ON IRON CARE

How to reline a lamp shade

Roll your own. Lighting benefits can be noticeably increased by relining existing dark-on-the-inside shades with good white paper. Roll the lamp shade on white paper, and pencil mark to cut. Fit this lining inside the shade and fasten seam with Scotch tape.

OTHER WAYS TO CONSERVE LIGHT

- 1 Clean lamp bulbs and reflectors (unlighted) regularly with a damp cloth.
- 2 Use shades with white linings that reflect light instead of absorbing it.
- 3 Keep all lights properly shaded to avoid glare.
- 4 Arrange furniture so one lamp serves two or more people.
- 5 Always turn off lights in unoccupied rooms.
- 6 Have eyes examined regularly by a competent eye specialist.

STATE POLICE HEADS CONVEENE

Leaders In 13 Eastern States Consider Plans For Postwar Era

By TONY ZECCA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HERSHEY, Pa., Jan. 31.—The chiefs of state police forces from 13 eastern states convened at Hershey today with their staffs to discuss plans for combatting a rising tide of crime which is expected to follow in the aftermath of the war.

The two-day conclave is the first annual meeting of the northeastern state and provincial section of the International Association of Police Chiefs headed by Commander Edward J. Hickey, of Hartford, Conn. Col. C. M. Wilhelm, Pennsylvania State Police Commissioner, is chairman of the session.

The convention delegates included approximately 75 police officials from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Hampshire, New York, Virginia, Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, West Virginia, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Postwar recommendations for police forces were scheduled to be outlined by Norman Damon, of Washington, representing the automotive safety federation. The size of future forces was especially slated for consideration because many staffs have been depleted by war.

A means of recruiting more officers to combat increased crime waves which reports now invariably follow wars was scheduled to be mapped out. In Pennsylvania, the state police organization has fallen from its pre-war staff of 1600 to 1200.

The need for the post war law enforcement plans was demonstrated by the series of conferences that has been scheduled. The next meeting is slated for Lansing, Mich.

Other phases of law enforcement slated for discussion were:

Police training, by Commander Charles Schofield, of New Jersey; traffic problems, by Capt. T. N. Boate, of Pennsylvania State Police headquarters, and the value of suspending operators' licenses for traffic violations, by T. E. Transeau, Pennsylvania State Director of Highway Safety.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

No. 24
INCOME FROM RENTS AND ROYALTIES

Many taxpayers derive income from rents and royalties. Such income is shown in item 7 of the return Form 1040. (If you have this type of income you cannot use short Form 1040A.) Only the net income—or loss—is shown in item 7; that is, the difference between the total amount received in revenue from the property less the total amount of the ordinary and necessary expenses incurred. An explanation of income, chargeable expenses, and the kind of property, must be shown in Schedule C(1) of the return.

The "kind of property" might be indicated as a farm, dwelling, store building or the like. The chargeable expenses are shown under three headings, as (a) depreciation allowable, (b) repairs, and (c) other expenses. Where depreciation is claimed, a further explanation is required in Schedule C(2) "Explanation of Deduction for Depreciation Claimed." Repairs and other expenses must also be explained in Schedule C(2).

A distinction must be made between expenditures for maintenance and repairs and expenditures for replacements, improvements and alterations. Replacement expense, to the extent that the replacements arrest deterioration and appreciably prolong the life of the property, is not chargeable against rental income for the year, but is chargeable to capital or the depreciation reserve. Only the cost of incidental repairs which neither materially add to the value of the property nor appreciably prolong its life, but serve to keep it in an ordinary efficient operating condition, may be deducted as repair expense in Schedule C(1).

The distinction between what is an improvement or an alteration, and what is a repair, is not always clear, and has been subjected to many rulings and decisions. The cost of painting the outside of a house used for business purposes (rental) and the cost of painting and papering the inside, for instance, are regarded as repairs, deductible as expenses in Schedule C(1). The replacement of a roof, or the change in the heating plant, plumbing system or other major alteration, is regarded as in the nature of a capital expenditure and is not deductible as repair expense in Schedule C(1).

Among "other expenses" deductible in Schedule C(1) are such items as the cost of janitor service, water service, fuel, fire insurance, and the like, as well as taxes and interest. If taxes and interest are deducted as "other expenses," they may not be deducted under the separate items of taxes and interest in the return.

Where a dwelling is partly rented and partly occupied by the taxpayer, only those expenses chargeable to the rented portion are deductible. In the case of a 2-family dwelling, for instance, one-half of which is occupied by the owner, ordinarily one-half of the depreciation allowable, repairs and other expenses, would be deductible from the rent received.

Royalties are, in general, the earnings from copyrights, patents, good will, trade-marks, formulas and the like, as well as from mineral properties. In the case of royalties from mineral properties the statute provides for certain allowable depreciation expense, depending upon the nature of the property and other factors, and the amounts deducted may not exceed the statutory limitations.

PROBE BOMB DISCOVERY
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Experts at Frankford arsenal today analyzed a 14-inch bomb found in a doorway of the marine corps warehouse in Philadelphia.

The explosive closely resembling the type used by the army as land mines was discovered by a sentry. Although filled with a yellow substance which police said was undoubtedly blasting powder of tremendous potency, the bomb reportedly was harmless since it contained no fuse, percussion cap or plunger.

Col. Maurice Gregory, commandant at the marine depot, said no explosives and no inflammable materials are kept in the warehouse.

NAZI HUNT STEINBECK
STOCKHOLM.—(INS)—The German Gestapo recently conducted a search for a subversive character—one John Steinbeck—who, it seems, writes books. A Norwegian youth, arrested for possession of "illegal literature," admitted to the Gestapo that he had sold a copy of "The Moon Is Down," a Steinbeck novel of Nazi failure to subdue a Norwegian mining town. "Where is this Steinbeck?" the Germans demanded. "He is in America," was the reply. "It's a lie!" Gestapo men replied and began a search for the culprit, whom they were convinced was in hiding nearby.

SAFETY DINNER OF NORWALK LINES HERE ON SUNDAY

Program Is Presented At Event In The Castleton; Fifty In Attendance

Safety on the highway and in the freight terminals was stressed Sunday afternoon when the Norwalk Truck Lines held the annual safety dinner for the New Castle-Pittsburgh division of the company, in The Castleton hotel. Present were some fifty employees, headed by the president, J. F. Ernsthausen of Norwalk, O.

The dinner was in charge of Charles De Carbo of New Castle, the Pennsylvania manager for the Norwalk truck lines. Opening the speaking program Mr. De Carbo expressed his appreciation of the crowd present and then introduced D. H. Hansen of Norwalk, director of personnel for the company as the toastmaster.

Mr. Hansen styled the company as "one of the largest trucking companies in the world" and said that in a short time it would be the largest. In 1943 he said the pay roll amounted to $2,900,000 and that the unemployment taxes alone paid by the company was $85,000. He urged more safety in operation and called upon a number of speakers who dwelt upon different phases of safe handling of freight.

Among the speakers were the following: A. W. Cavens of the Traveler's Insurance Company, Paul Liles, safety supervisor, Cliff Hodder, Pittsburgh manager, Herman Johnson of the operating staff, R. E. Taylor, employment manager, H. L. Johnson, business agent of the truckers local, Fred De Carbo, New Castle manager, D. M. Park, claim agent.

The concluding speaker was President Ernsthausen. He discussed the development of the trucking industry and said that the Norwalk's growth was the result of co-operation between management and men. He pointed with pride to the manner in which the company has carried on under war time restrictions and promised that the reconstruction period after the war would find the company ready to cope with the problems then arising.

In a few weeks the company will hold its "Recognition" dinner at which time safety awards will be handed out to those drivers meriting them.

Blame Spanish Diplomats In Recent Revolt

U. S. Suspects Spanish Diplomats Had Share In Bolivia Episode

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The United States government is understood today to be in possession of information indicating that Spanish diplomats had a hand in the recent Bolivian revolt. Reports which this government considers reliable show that pro-Axis elements in Argentina used the Spanish legation in Buenos Aires as the intermediary to contribute approximately $75,000 to the leaders of the Bolivian revolution.

Members of the new Bolivian military regime as well as leaders of the Argentine government are linked in the plot which led to the overthrow of the pro-Allied Bolivian government of President Enrique Penaranda.

This information led the United States and other Allied American governments to refuse to recognize the new Bolivian regime. This government had planned to make public these charges against the Spanish diplomats and Argentine Nationalists at the time it announced its non-recognition policy toward the Bolivian military junta. Argentina's sudden break with the Axis prompted the American government to withhold the charges. The Argentine government is believed to have got wind of the fact the state department was planning to release the information and Buenos Aires decided to act quickly.

Word that the state department was in possession of this information and had intended to make it public leaked out through Latin American channels and was confirmed in responsible quarters.

Nazi Forces Take Up New Positions

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The Nazi agency DNB asserted tonight that German forces in Italy have taken up new positions on a short-end line south of the Albano mountains.

American vanguards which reached Cisterna have been cut off, DNB alleged, and the German line restored.

The whole Italian front is on the move except in the high mountain area in the center where thick snow remains, DNB said.

Trombone, in Italian, signifies "big trumpet," and that is what it was for ages. The slide, which gave it additional notes, probably originated in northern Italy in the latter part of the 14th century.

LIQUID AIR ROCKET SHELL IS TRIED OUT

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The new secret weapon propagandized by the Germans for home consumption is reported in neutral military circles to be "nearly completed" in experimental stages at Lake Constance. Firing already has been carried out from the region of Markdorf into the Austrian Vorarlberg.

The weapon involves use of rocket shells loaded with liquid air containing a solution of uranium salt and a propelling charge of unrefined carbon dioxide and picric acid. The shells are reported to have covered distances up to 110 kilometers with reasonable accuracy. They explode with a bluish orange flame which leaves a wisp of white smoke vapor hanging over the point of explosion for some time afterward.

One eyewitness was reported to have told of a "clearing" in woods some 600 yards in diameter in which not a vestige of trees or undergrowth remained. He was quoted as saying:

"It was as though the bushes had been vaporized under the force of the explosion... while trees and bushes for another 300 or 400 yards outside the ring of complete destruction were splintered."

The shell was said to consist of a triple-chambered rocket with stabilizing fins, carrying a 400-kilogram charge of "purified" liquid air and a 250 to 300 kilogram charge of propelling fluid. The third chamber, containing the detonator, was said to contain another radioactive salt in fusion with a mercury detonator.

Initial muzzle velocity on leaving the gun was declared sufficient to throw the projectile only some three or four miles, after which its autopropulsive charge carried it to a maximum trajectory height of some 30 to 35 theoretical miles before it started to fall.

PREPARE FOR BURMA

LONDON.—(INS)—The Khyber Pass is being used as a training ground for British forces scheduled to take the offensive against the Japanese in Burma. British authorities have revealed that although different in climate and terrain, this sparse, mountainous country is considered ideal for the purpose. Jungle warfare is stressed.

Seventeen Student Nurses Are Capped

Ceremonies At New Castle Hospital School Of Nursing Sunday At 3 P. M.

Formal acceptance and capping of seventeen pre-clinic students, into the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing, took place in the School of Nursing, Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m., with friends and relatives of the students in attendance.

Following the processional, "God Bless America" was sung by the glee club. Sister Mary Dolorosa, director of nurses, welcomed the pre-clinic students into the School of Nursing upon their completion of six months of basic training in the nursing profession. Sister Dolorosa stressed the serious responsibility now acquired by the student nurses in the caring of human lives.

John Maher, president of the School of Nursing Council was in charge of the formal reception of the pre-clinic students into the School of Nursing. He extended his congratulations upon their acceptance, and upon the completion of their required six months training.

Students were then capped in impressive services, upon a stage, empaneled with flowers. Sister Dolorosa capped the students, and Sister Mary Clement, science instructor, capped each student as she approached to receive her cap. The students carried candles which were lighted during the capping, signifying the "lighting of their way" in their profession. Assisting in the lighting of the candles were Jean Tinsley, R. N., and Dorothy Balint. The new student nurses then repeated the nurses pledge, followed by the nurses pledge song, the latter being sung, while the group formed a cross.

Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church, delivered an inspiring address, emphasizing the sacrifices to be experienced by each student, in order to achieve their goal in the nursing profession. He told of the "love" for fellowmen which is so necessary in this profession of high ideals. A love which will attain the ultimate goal for each student nurse. Father Inteso concluded with the thought that the corporal work of mercy, to care for the sick is the work of God; and to become a good nurse, the high ideals must be kept in mind, in order to continue in the work of God.

Immediately following the address, a playlet entitled, "Florence Nightingale," was presented by the class of 1944-45, and those participating were: Margaret Carbone, Dorothy Balint, Renee Brancatone, Minerva Suci, Margaret Buckley and Joyce Leicht.

Ceremonies closed with "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," sung by the assembly.

An informal reception was enjoyed in the nurses' parlor by the friends and relatives of the new student nurses class, and dainty refreshments were served in buffet style, from a beautifully arranged table.

The following students received their caps: Anna Marie Boron, 1701 Hanna street; Thelma Bernice Cohen, 433 Boyles avenue; Veronica Marie Fritz, 1116 Williams street; Stella Koldzielisk, 1607 Hanna street; Rosemary Place, 123 East Wallace avenue; Bertha Marie Sullivan, 1013 East Washington street; Harriet June Tinsman, 423 Martin street; Rose Joan Nastas, Ellwood City; Jennie Teresa Bierga, Wampum; Cecelia Marie Rucinski, Bessemer; Helen Marie Pitera, Slippery Rock; Margaret Louise Leyshock, Anna Marie Mastrian and Mary Ann Stefanak, Farrell, Pa.; Dorothy Ann Simonik, Westland; Nardina Marie Roseta, Ridgway; and Louise Marie Cherry, of Johnstown.

Priests attending the capping exercises were: Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, Rev. Fr. Vincent O'Donnell, Rev. Fr. Edward Pisklik, Rev. Fr. William M. Pisarcik, Rev. Fr. James Kerman, Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, and Rev. Fr. Clement C. P. of Cleveland, O., brother of Sister Mary Clement. The capping exercises bring to a close the duties of Sister Mary Clement as science instructor at the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing. She departed today for a week's rest, where she will visit for a week, next week she will assume new duties at the Vincentian hospital in Monette, Mo.

Union Threatens To Close Schools

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A local CIO union today threatened to close down all of Pittsburgh's public schools unless its demands for a $1-a-day wage increase and one-half for overtime for 1,000 custodial, shop, storehouse and cafeteria employees is met within a week.

Jack Strobel, president of District 3 of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, said the workers had cast the strike vote Saturday. A special committee of the board of public education rejected any increase in wage for any employees except custodians or head janitors.

DUCK-BILLED PLATYPUS BARKS LIKE A PUPPY

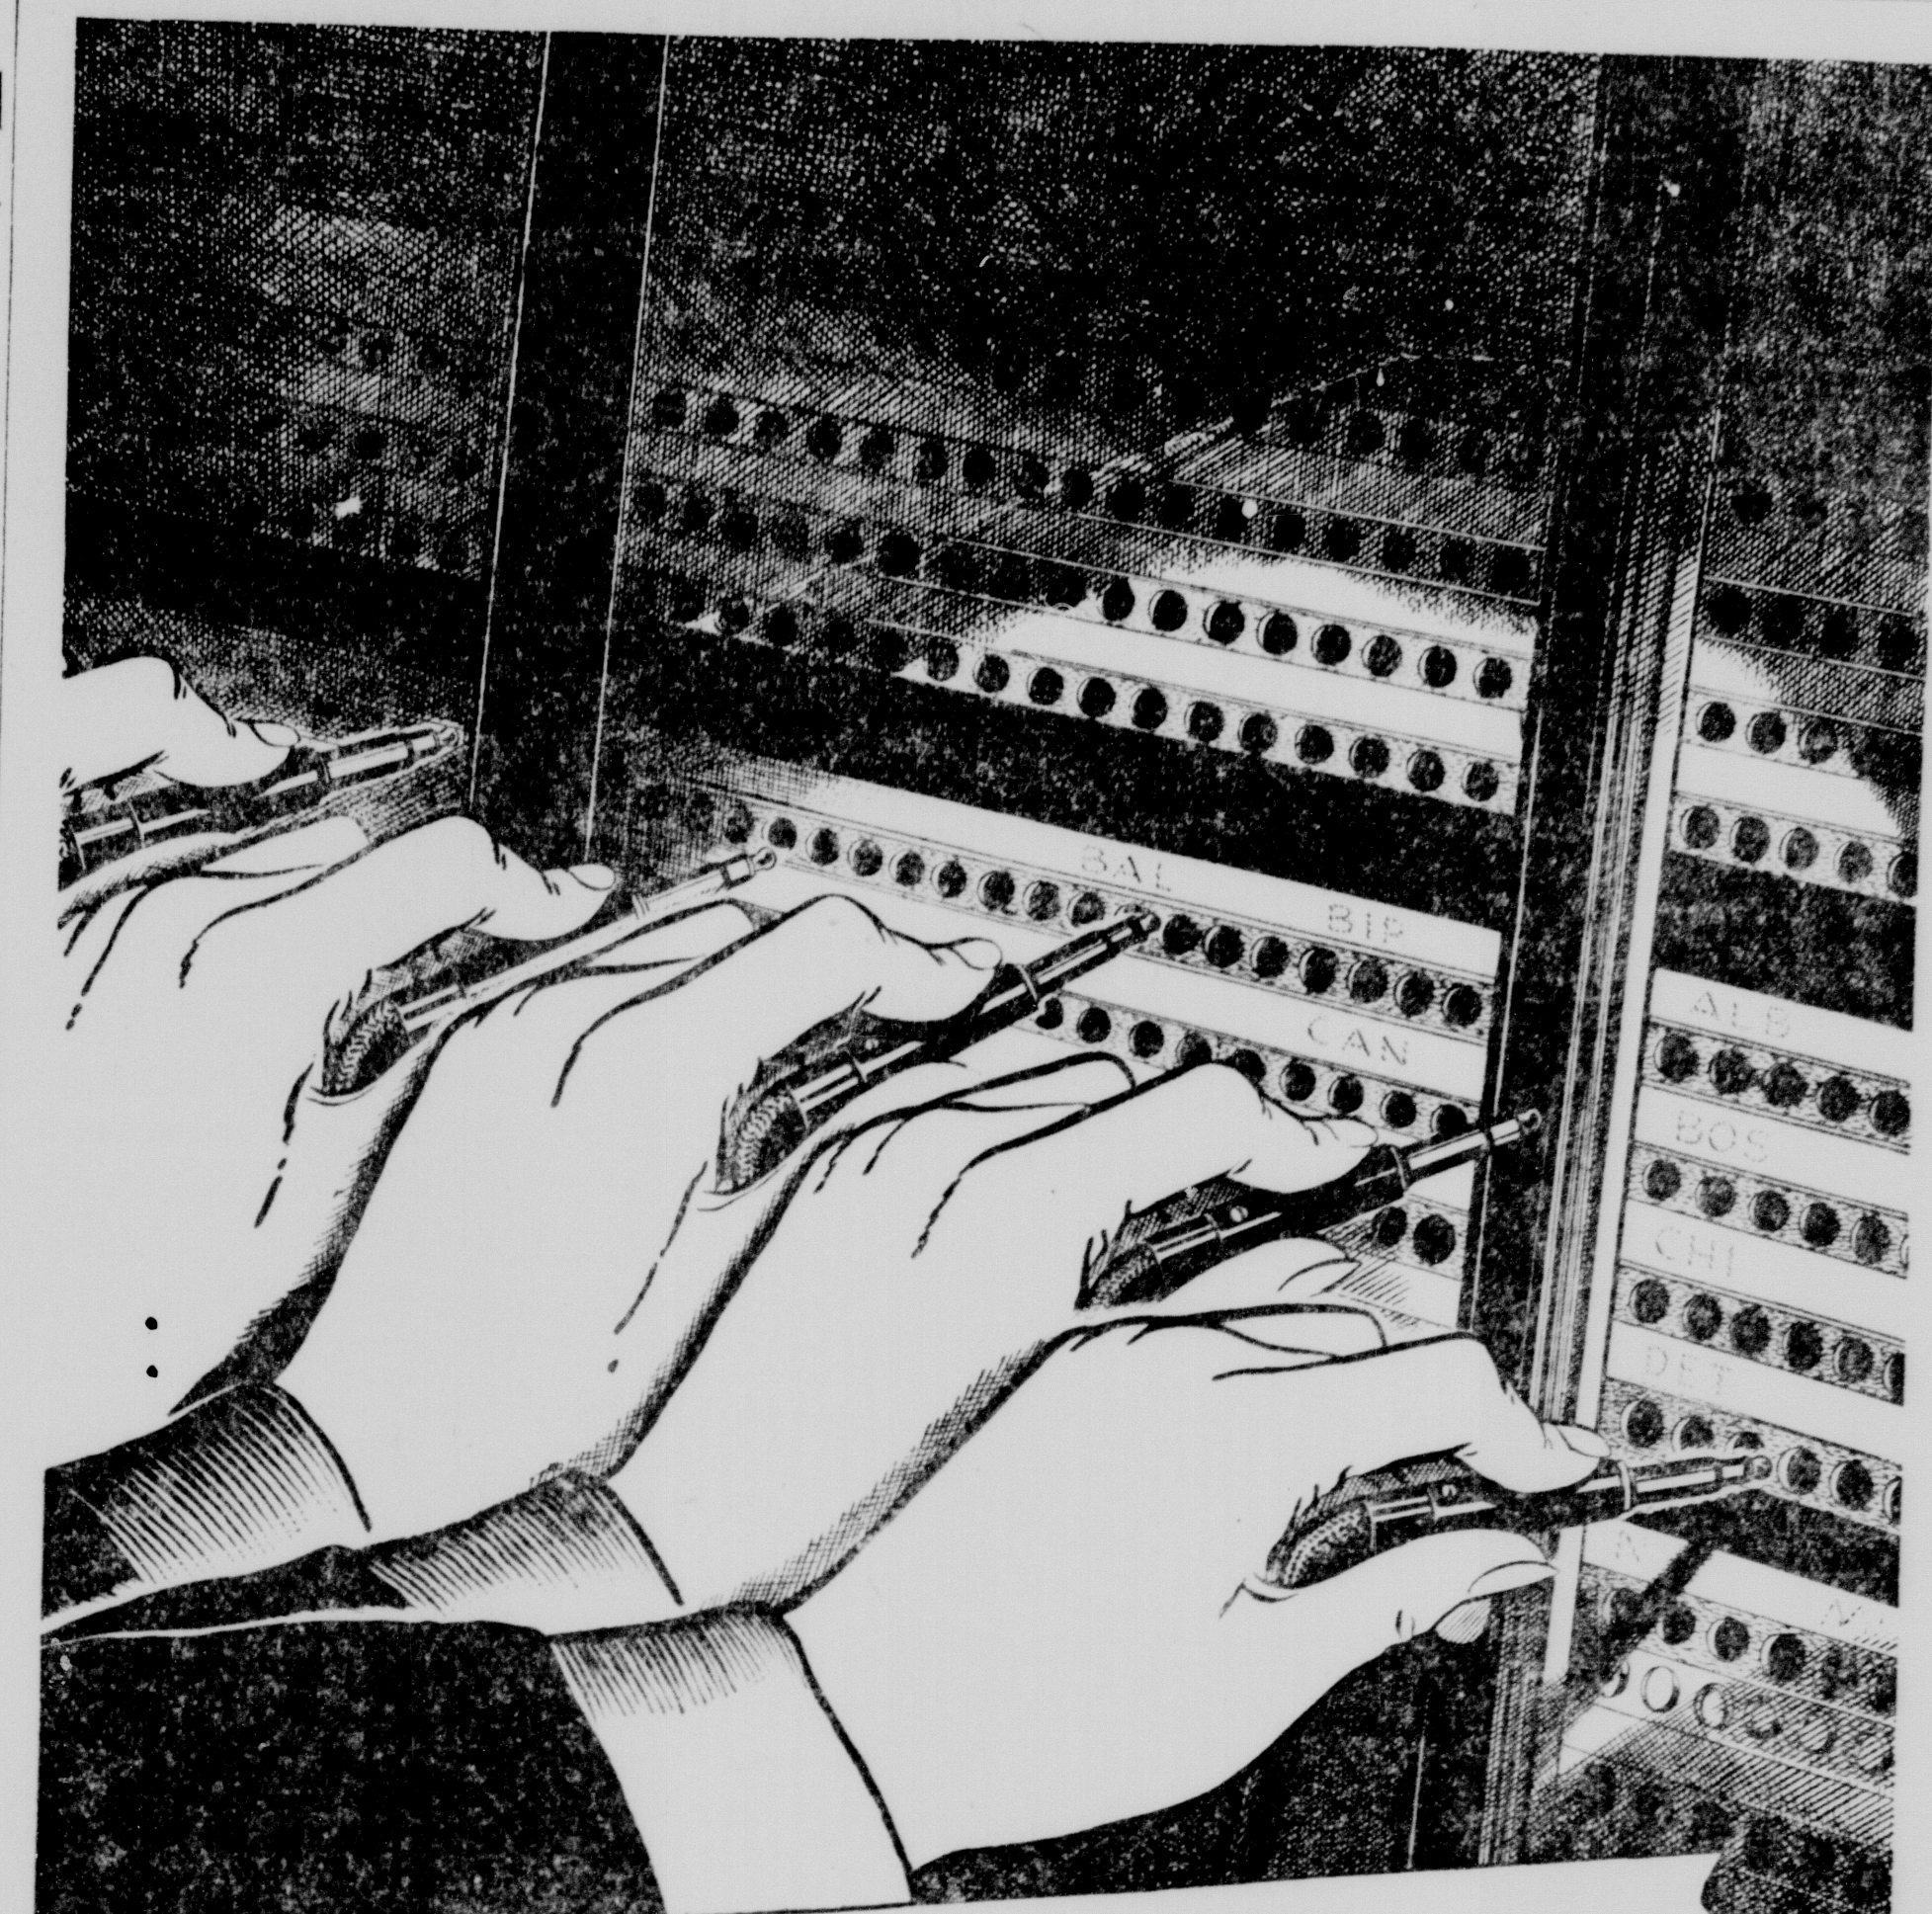

MELBOURNE.—(INS)—The duck-billed platypus born in captivity at the Healesville animal sanctuary near Melbourne is doing all right, thank you. The baby utters puppy-like barks and has a funny face.

A platypus is a primitive link between mammals and aquatic birds. Besides a duck bill it is web-footed and is a mallelike creature that lays eggs and nurses its young.

Naturalists say the Healesville platypus is the first born in captivity. Its parents are named Jack and Jill.

Jap Behavior Is Analyzed

Sociologist Gives Views On Conduct Of Japanese Against Prisoners

JAP FRUSTRATION BEING REVEALED

Editor's note: Dr. Clement S. Mihonovich of the department of sociology of St. Louis university, in the following article analyzes from the viewpoint of a sociologist the behavior of the Japanese who tortured and killed American prisoners.

By DR. C. S. MIHONOVICH
St. Louis, Jan. 31.—The atrocities perpetrated on our soldiers by the Japanese can be traced to a number of factors:

(1) The Japanese mind, unlike the Chinese, is typically Oriental when it comes to cruelty and barbarism. To them these horrible exhibitions of sadism are a manifestation of their "superiority," their "greatness" as warriors, their "heavenly" heritage.

It is at the same time an attempt to frustrate an inner feeling which they possess—a feeling that physically they are small and puny in comparison to the stalwarts that compose our Army.

(2) Paradoxically, on the other hand, their conduct is a definite illustration of unconscious frustration. They are taught that America is rotten physically and morally degenerate, and victory was easy.

The high price they paid for Bataan taught them the opposite. Like a bully who has been bested in a fair fight by his opponent but suddenly resorted to unfair advantages and won the scrap, the Japanese sought to justify their "victory" by strutting with their prize, subjugating it to all the inhuman brutality that only a Japanese mind can devise, and by beating their chests in a hollow howl of victory.

(3) Lastly, the sociologically, the animal-like behavior of Japan reminds us of a criminal who spent a number of years in voluntary solitary confinement nursing an unfounded persecution complex (fed on perverted but fanatical religious principles) and who suddenly acquires guns and runs amuck.

This latest example of Japanese ruthlessness teaches us a lesson, a lesson we should never forget, a lesson we should burn deep on our minds—that our enemy is savage and merciless and that we must fight fire with fire.

Half measures have no place in our war with the Japanese. But there is one consolation—this latest exploit of "Japanese bravery" reveals to us that they are like cornered rats. Like all cornered rats they are dangerous and should be given no quarter.

BERLIN BLASTED FOR THIRD TIME IN FOUR NIGHTS

cations suspended at 8 p. m. Last night when the aerial onslaught began had not been restored 12 hours later.

Significantly, too, no Nazi radio station had broadcast up until a late hour any German version of the latest punishing raid.

Terrific Raid
Last night's raid apparently as so terrific, said the London Evening Standard, that the capital was cut off from the world.

"Last night a very strong force of bomber command aircraft attacked Berlin," the air minister, communicate said.

The term "very strong force" is employed to designate a shattering saturation assault with a great weight of bombs.

"The bombing was concentrated," continued the communicate, "and Mosquito crews who attacked after the main force left saw the glow of large conflagrations with smoke rising to a great height."

Other planes on the bomber command simultaneously attacked objectives in central and western Germany. Mines also were laid in enemy waters.

Intruder aircraft which supported the bombardments in sorties over the continent destroyed two German planes, the air ministry said.

The latest assault on Berlin, following heavyweight assaults in daylight yesterday by United States Eighth Air Force Fortresses and Liberators on Brunswick and Hanover, climaxes 72 hours of a "blitz" assault on Germany in which some 8,000 American tons of bombs were dropped, the Evening News said.

In addition to the cut in telephone communications with Stockholm and Zurich, telephone lines to Hungary and all parts of Switzerland were interrupted all night.

"All-Out" Raid
The strength and frequency of the combined British and American assaults made it appear that Allied air chiefs are now going all-out to destroy Germany before an invasion from the west.

The raids, begun Thursday and continued without halt, constitute history's most sustained and most intense use of air power. The U. S. A. F. for the first time alternate equally their daylight blows with the R. A. F. night assaults.

The mounting number of crews and planes used by both the Americans and British promises Germany her most terrible months ahead.

The R. A. F. job of wiping out Berlin, in which the bomber command already has unloaded more than 23,000 American tons of bombs since Nov. 18, is considered more than half completed. Another two months of such intensive bombing should thoroughly destroy the capital.

Last night's assault was the sixth major raid on Berlin this month.

Drop 6,000 Tons Of Bombs
London, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The Daily Mail said that since Thursday night British and American bombers have unloaded more than 6,000 tons of bombs on the Reich. The Daily Mail says American craft probably dropped between 1,000 and 1,200 tons on Brunswick alone yesterday.

In the twin raids on Brunswick and Hanover, 91 Nazi interceptors were destroyed. Twenty heavy American bombers and five fighters were reported missing.

Although no figures were released, the air ministry and Eighth Air Force headquarters revealed in a joint communique that "very large formations" of heavy bombers of the U. S. strategic air forces attacked formations of heavy bombers of the U. S. strategic air forces attacked the airplane factories and rail installations.

The Forts and Liberators were escorted by long-range Mustang, Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters. RCAF and Allied Spitfires flew with the Yank forces in supporting sweeps.

One American intelligence officer reported that "productions of air craft at Brunswick should be seriously interrupted" as a result of yesterday's action.

State Increases Fat Collections
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Pennsylvania, with a goal of 1,500,000 pounds for January, was one of 14 states to increase its collection of used fats during November.

Warner F. Haldeman, salvage committee chairman of the Philadelphia Council of Defense, pointed out that used fats are necessary for making explosives and military medicines.

The government gives housewives two meat ration points per pound for used greases which is also the source of high-tallow soaps needed for synthetic rubber production.

British newspapers have cut their paper consumption to about one sixth of pre-war.

Recovery Of Young Gunner Is Remarkable

By DIXIE TIGHE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

A FLYING FORTRESS STATION. Somewhere in Britain, Jan. 31.—A young gunner so badly wounded in the legs on his first Flying Fortress mission that doctors wondered if he'd ever walk again is dancing today.

He is Tech. Sgt. Maurice Knutson of Clear Lake, Wis. He flew on the Brunswick raid yesterday, finishing his combat missions. He had been shot in both legs in a raid over France in November, 1942, and lay in a hospital seven months, determined to fly again.

He returned to his home field in July and took to the air again in August despite a general feeling he had had enough, and should go home.

Yesterday his ship, "Hoosier Hot-shot," returned. Knutson stripped off his combat clothes ready for tonight's celebration. Twenty minutes after reporting, he was in a car heading for town, with his hair slicked-down, buttons shined and his most important legs in perfect condition for dancing.

As he flew to Brunswick, Knutson could look from his top-turret and see the Flying Fortress "Sidsack" in which he made his first mission and was wounded.

"I was determined when I got shot-up to get patched up again and come back," he said.

He is now finally determined to stay in this theatre and become a gunnery instructor.

rent air war was the latest announced raid on Rabaul. Fighter-escorted Army and Navy bombers probably accounted for at least 20 enemy aircraft which were caught on the ground at Lukanai airdrome. Twelve enemy aircraft positions were also knocked out of action.

Shoot Down Japs
On recovering from their surprise, the Japs sent up 70 Zeros to resist the assault. Thirty of them were shot down and 12 others probably destroyed. At dusk another wave of twin-engine Mitchell bombers, based in the Solomons, hit Rabaul's Tobara airdrome from an extremely low altitude, kindled fires and pounded enemy guns into silence.

Japan was feeling the effect of increased Allied aerial power on the ground as well as on the ground. During the month four auxiliary enemy warships, 24 merchant vessels, 157 barges and 15 small surface craft went to the bottom and nine additional cargo ships were probably destroyed.

Among the damaged enemy vessels were four cruisers, nine destroyers and 39 merchant vessels.

Japs On Defensive
That the Nips are fighting strictly a defensive war in the air here is borne out by the fact that of 640 enemy planes shot down or disabled in January, less than 5 per cent were bombers.

While Japanese bombing has been confined to minor raids, as at Arara and Cape Gloucester yesterday, Allied bombers dropped 2,400 tons of explosives on Jap fighting positions in New Guinea during the past month.

Our planes are now in the process of softening up the northeastern sector of New Britain preparatory to the ultimate assault on Rabaul. Attack planes bombed and strafed enemy bivouacs and supply areas near Cape Basching and east of Natamo Point yesterday.

Allied air patrols have also been active over the coastal sector, attacking targets at Ubili, Jaquinto Bay, Gasmata and Arava.

One barge was destroyed at Rottock Bay.

U. S. AIR ATTACKS REVEAL HUGE FORCE IN BRITAIN

portance to the enemy. The pattern of this present bombing definitely proves that fact. Frankfurt and Hanover both produce synthetic gasoline. So we see that this latest series of attacks was aimed at the very heart of the German war machine. Planes can't fly and tanks can't operate without gasoline.

At the same time, continuous air assaults are being made against the northern French coast and northward into the Netherlands. Particular attention of attack still seems to be concentrated in the Calais area.

In both bomber assaults against Frankfurt and Brunswick, the American Flying Fortresses and Liberators were helped and hindered by low clouds. However, it is said that our newest bomb sight eliminated the difficulties of visibility and still left the clouds as a protecting screen against enemy fighter attack. Ninety-one Nazi planes were shot down in the Brunswick-Hanover assault, and 102 during the Frankfurt attack.

During Sunday's raid on Brunswick the Nazi ground defense used the new anti-aircraft German rocket guns with no unusual degree of success since the American loss in that operation is now stated to have been 20 bombers and five fighters. That's a loss of less than 5.29 per cent of the probable force engaged.

It becomes more and more evident that all of Hitler's new weapons which come into the jet propelled or rocket category have not been sufficiently developed to be overly dangerous at this time. Before Nazi scientists can make those weapons entirely deadly and efficient, Allied scientists will have perfected defense and counter weapons.

It is almost inconceivable to believe that Berlin and other German target cities can stand up under the terrific and devastating present punishment being delivered to them by the Allied Air Forces.

If 200,000 average private consumers of electricity cut their consumption by 10 per cent, the saving in coal used for electrical generation would amount to 18,600 tons annually.

BRIDEGROOM-TO-BE DISAPPEARS

CONFIDENT HE'LL RETURN—Helen M. Olson, 23, left, is certain that her bridegroom-to-be, Capt. Philip W. Beatman, 27, of the U. S. Coast Guard, right, is a victim of amnesia. Miss Olson waited at her home in Newburyport, Mass., two hours for Captain Beatman, former Dartmouth university student, to arrive for the wedding. During that time Beatman telephoned his intended bride from a florist shop, announcing that he had purchased the flowers for the ceremony. Police and Army officials have been called to aid in searching for the officer, who may have been a victim of robbers. (International) line in the vicinity of Cassino beyond the bridgehead they established across the Rapido river north of the town. In continued advances they captured several more strategic heights and recorded local advances on several sectors.

The Yanks proceeded to mop up the villages of Cairo and Monte Verde from the comparative quiet of the comparatively quiet Adriatic sector came word that British patrols have become active along the entire battle line.

Get Plane Support
The Fifth Army force moving inland from the Anzio-Nettuno beach-head enjoyed the support of Allied fighter planes while bombers struck repeatedly at communication lines north and south of the bridgehead to disrupt German efforts to reinforce the area.

Strong forces of fighter-escorted bombers plastered four Nazi airfields in northeast Italy to whittle down German bombardment from the air of Allied landing ships and troops coming ashore on the beach-head.

Headquarters said that approximately 900 sorties were flown by the Mediterranean Allied Air Force yesterday. A total of 63 Nazi planes were destroyed in combat while numerous others were smashed on the ground. Six Allied craft were reported missing.

Counter Attack Repulsed
In the Anzio beachhead area, a German counterattack three miles southwest of Cassino was repulsed. The enemy was reported digging in along a five-mile stretch in the vicinity of Cassino along the railway line running from Rome to Terracina. The eastern extremity of this stretch is two miles from Cassino while the western end touches the point where the Anzio-Albano road cuts the railway.

Allied naval units ranging up and down the Tyrrhenian seacoast continued to bomb German troop transport and roads inland. These naval guns are within range of a network of roads between the beachhead and the lower portion of the main Fifth Army front.

British Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham and Rear Admiral Frank J. Lowry, U. S. N. went ashore at Anzio and later conferred aboard a British warship.

Continue Hard Battle
North of Cassino American troops continued their hard battle breaking through enemy defenses at the Sacciano height. Infantry supported by tanks and artillery fire re-crossed the Rapido river to knock out wire defenses, pillboxes and other strong points of the G-estav line.

The Americans also captured two important heights. One was Hill 233, which lies 700 feet southwest of the village of Cairo, three miles north-west of Cassino, where 42 prisoners were taken. They also took Hill 167, a 500-foot height two miles north of Cassino.

Mopping-up operations continued at Cassino and Monte Velio. The latter first was penetrated by the fifteen man crew of a 75-mm anti-tank gun.

Cassino itself remains strongly held by the Germans but is under heavy Allied artillery fire.

On the Eighth Army front, a British patrol penetrated close to the village of Rossetto, six miles inland west of Cassino. Allied airmen, taking advantage of improved conditions, bombed, strafed and destroyed more than 50 enemy trucks in this area.

JAPAN REFUSES TO ACCEPT ANY PRISONERS' AID

supplies to Vladivostok, a state department memorandum on the subject states:

"Early in 1942, the American Red Cross, in conjunction with the interested agencies of the United States government, made efforts to find a means acceptable to the Japanese government of forwarding to our prisoners of war and civilian internees in the far east necessary supplies of food, medicine, clothing, and comforts such as are regularly sent to American citizens in corresponding circumstances in other enemy-held areas."

No Shipments Allowed
"The Japanese government indicated it was unwilling for strategic reasons to grant any non-Japanese vessel safe-conduct to move in Japanese waters and that it had no intention to send one of its own vessels to any neutral area in order to pick up relief supplies."

In March, 1943, the Japanese government stated that it would explore other means of permitting the delivery of relief supplies.

"In the following months the Japanese government stated it might consent to receive supplies overland or by sea from Soviet territory. There ensued long and complicated negotiations with the Japanese and Soviet governments."

Refuses Supplies
"Despite these difficulties, it has been possible to create a stockpile of prisoner-of-war relief supplies on Soviet territory. Moreover, the Soviet government has given assurances that it will facilitate the transit through the Soviet Union of such relief supplies on a continuing basis when a satisfactory agreement for the onward shipment of these supplies is reached between the Japanese and American governments."

The Memorandum adds that in spite of the state department's repeated endeavors, the Japanese government has refused to accept the total 3,000 tons Tokyo supply ignores supplies at Vladivostok which now the American government's inquiries made through Switzerland as to when the supplies are to be picked up at Vladivostok for shipment to Japan and distribution to the American war prisoners.

'Canes Vs. Wilson Here On Tuesday

Dumped into the defeated pile twice last week, New Castle high is looking forward to a victory Tuesday night when the 'Canes entertain a new opponent—Woodrow Wilson high of Youngstown.

The contest, an 8-15 starter, will be played on George Washington junior high court. The 'Canes Reserve, a good looking lot, play in the preliminary at 7.

In the Ohio town, the Woodies loom as one of the top teams and expect to give the locals a busy 32 minutes.

Now that Bob Jackson and Ted Lewis have rounded their string as 'Canes, Coach P. H. Bridenbaugh will have to shift around the lineup. In all probabilities, Andrews and Wamer will occupy the forward posts and Fisher will take over at center, the slot formerly handled by Wimer. Bob Preston is one of the guards. The other sentinel berth is an open affair. Fisher may be moved back to his old guard station with Wimer filling in at center and Orend moving into the forward hole.

Following the non-loop engagement, New Castle prepares for next Friday's home contest with Aliquippa, currently holding down first place in Section 3 with Ambridge.

Section 21 Race Far From Over

Wampum-Bessemer Fray, Friday, February 18, May Be Title Teller

In several western Pennsylvania communities, WPAL races already are over and the winners are making plans for the Pitt stadium classic starting the latter part of this month.

Here in Lawrence county the Section 21 WPAL marathon is far from a closed book.

Barring reversal of form, either Wampum or Bessemer will dribble in the B classic. There is a strong possibility that the league champion may be crowned Friday, Feb. 18, when the rivals meet on Wampum's new court.

Bessemer Sports. Rudely jolted by Shenango, 30-26, Bessemer fought back desperately to get into the title picture, first crushing East Brook, then punting New Wilmington. A one-point victory over Wampum, 43-42, was the blow that placed the Cementers in the middle of the ring.

Last Friday the red and black clad five knocked off Mt. Jackson, 56-24, to gain a tie for the leadership.

Tuesday night's card shows Bessemer dipping at Union in a clash that should set the Bessemerites for a sixth victory and the league lead since Wampum enjoys an idle date. Union, winner over East Brook and New Wilmington on hardy figures to have enough stuff to repulse the tall and talented Weresauk-coached unit.

Bessemer then tries to even accounts with Shenango township Friday night at Bessemer, after which East Brook New Wilmington, and Wampum will be faced with a non-loop date with North Lima listed for February 12. Bessemer should roll over the three "21" foes and enter the Wampum game in a position to grab the title if it can subdue the Indians.

Jackson Hopeful. Mt. Jackson still hopeful of winning the trip to Pittsburgh, has New Wilmington on its calling card and should win handsily. The Jackson figure last Friday's nightmare a thing of the past and plan to star anew.

Shenango township, deadlocked with Mt. Jackson for third place honors, meets weak East Brook on Shenango floor. Whipped only twice in league play, the Wildcatters are only a game from first place and could skyrocket to the top by winning their next six league frays.

Before the week ends, Westminster's Titans may be heading the district collegiate basketball race. The Titans sport a won seven and lost four record.

Westminster plays twice this week, facing the Pitt Panthers at Pitt stadium on Wednesday night and then entertaining Carnegie Tech on Saturday night. Harridge Not Excited Over 'Farm' Question

Sees Fight Over Minor Loop System During Winter Meet February 5

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(INS)—President William Harridge of the American League refused today to become excited over the minor league farm system question. Harridge viewed predictions that the problem would flare into a fight at the meeting of the baseball postwar planning committee in New York Feb. 5 as a tempest in a teapot.

"In the first place," he said, "there really are only two major league clubs that have extensive farm systems—the Yankees and Cardinals. Chances are that both of them will take care of themselves without outside interference."

Harridge pointed out that the Ruppert heirs are trying to sell the Yankees and that the Cardinals farm system probably will be streamlined for financial reasons.

Said he: "The postwar committee primarily will consider the problem of revising rosters and player limit regulations so that players returning from the war can be absorbed without trouble and the farm system question is not part of the discussion."

"The postwar committee does not have the power to do anything about farm systems. It was appointed to consider matters relating to postwar baseball but has no legislative power."

The Purdue Boilermakers, who have six straight wins and no defeats in the Western Conference, may be heading for trouble in their basketball games Friday and Saturday nights at Columbus with Ohio State.

The Buckeyes downed their Michigan Wolverine opponents two in a row over the week-end at Ann Arbor, taking the Saturday night game in a romp, 52 to 39. They have lost out one game in six starts, getting nipped by the slender margin of 42 to 40 in their encounter with Northwestern recently.

Iowa should remain in the undefeated class, since it plays one game and that with the Chicago Maroons at Iowa City on Saturday night.

Northwestern, also undefeated, is favored to defeat Wisconsin Friday night at Madison and Minnesota Saturday night in Chicago.

The Wolverines, who have won only one game in eight starts, hope to defeat Indiana in their '29 games over the week-end in Ann Arbor.

Starvation Threatens Pennsylvania Wildlife

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 31.—A large percentage of Pennsylvania's wildlife population will die of starvation during coming weeks unless the state's volunteer conservationists step up their winter game feeding program.

This was the warning voiced today by Dr. P. F. English, associate professor of wildlife conservation at the Pennsylvania State college, who reminded sportsmen that the game feeding programs undertaken with so much enthusiasm in November and December are too often forgotten when the need for them is greatest.

The small game kill last season left unusually large numbers of animals to face the lean winter months, he explained, and the demands of war left fewer sportsmen than ever to aid in the winter feeding program.

Not only hunters—but farmers, Boy Scouts, 4-H club, women's clubs, sporting goods dealers, grain dealers and individual Pennsylvanians—must help out, Dr. English said, if our wildlife population is to be saved.

Westminster Overcomes 12-6 First Period Handicap; Pitt, Tech Foes This Week

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 31.—Overcoming a first period handicap, the Westminster college Titans continued their upward climb in the district's mythical collegiate basketball title, defeating Geneva college 66-58 here Saturday night. It was the blue and white's seventh triumph in 11 games, moving the Titans to second place in the district, just behind Wash. Jeff.

Titan Center Noble Jorgensen, 6 feet 8 Pitt-lugher freshman, led his team to victory and boosted his rank as western Pennsylvania's leading scorer by netting 10 field goals and five charity throws for a total of 25 points. Exhibiting his best form this season, the lanky Titan missed only one foul shot during the entire game. Captain Don Bennett marked up 11 points for the locals on four baskets and three free throws.

For the Covenanters, Center Bob Dille was the leading point-maker, making good on eight doubles and two fouls for 18 points while Forward Lipp also netted eight field goals and a single charity toss.

Trail 12-6

Two long set shots and two fouls by DeVenzo veteran Geneva guard, put the Covenanters off to an early lead before Westminster even got into the game. Jorgensen scored on two attempts, but accurate shooting by the Covies held the Titans behind 12-6 at the end of the first period.

Westminster muffed scoring opportunities and enabled Geneva to build up a 20-12 lead in the second quarter. With half the period gone, the Titans, led by Jorgensen, Lipp and Wagner, bombarded the basket, to tie the score at 20-20. The Covies forced ahead again but a final drive by the Titans put Westminster in the lead for the first time, 27-25, just a minute before the first half ended. The blue and white outscored Geneva in the second quarter, making 21 points to the Covies' 13.

It was a powerful third quarter offensive that sealed the victory for the Lawrence courtians. In the first three minutes of the second half the Titans rang up 11 points while holding their opponents scoreless. Overhead shots by Jorgensen, lay-ups by Bennett and baskets by Vitkonich and Wagner gave the Washburnians a 38-25 lead at the half.

The Titans, led by Jorgensen, Lipp and Wagner, bombarded the basket, to tie the score at 20-20. The Covies forced ahead again but a final drive by the Titans put Westminster in the lead for the first time, 27-25, just a minute before the first half ended. The blue and white outscored Geneva in the second quarter, making 21 points to the Covies' 13.

BLOOD VESSEL WOUNDS ONCE MEANT DEATH

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Jan. 31 (INS) — World War II is bringing a greater percentage of injuries to blood vessels than any war in history, due to the multiplicity of wounds caused by fragments of the big explosive shells. So the army has designated two of its general hospitals as vascular centers. One is Ashford Hospital at White Sulphur Springs; the other the Letterman General Hospital at San Francisco.

To Ashford are sent wounded soldiers whose blood vessels have been penetrated by fragments of shells or land mines or by rifle or pistol bullets. About two vascular operations a week are performed at Ashford, which specializes in the treatment of diseases and injuries of the circulatory system.

Heart Often Affected

Lt. Col. D. C. Elkin, chief of the hospital's professional and surgical services, explained that when a blood vessel wall is damaged, blood sacs form, and these cause a serious interference with the normal flow of blood. These sacs, or aneurysms, may rupture and result in critical or fatal hemorrhage. They also may produce harmful effects on the heart, Colonel Elkin said, or through pressure, paralyze adjacent nerves.

"Occasionally the blood sacs may be removed in their entirety through surgery, and the opening in the damaged artery repaired," Colonel Elkin said. "In other cases, depending on the area affected, the section of the injured artery and the sac may be removed as superfluous."

Good Chance To Recover

Due to modern methods, soldiers who receive blood vessel injuries today have a far greater chance of recovering than the victims of similar wounds in World War I, the colonel stated. The cause of blood plasma and sulfa drugs, plus increased efficiency in removing casualties from the field to base hospitals, is saving the lives of a "tremendous number" of soldiers.

The critical blood sacs may occur in any part of the body, Colonel Elkin reported, but are most frequent and most dangerous in the groin and the neck. Operations for their removal require from two to six hours, depending on the condition of the patient.

Another delicate medical problem results from arteriovenous fistula, a condition in which a bullet effects a communication between an artery and a neighboring vein. Blood rushes across the communication from the artery to the vein and returns to the heart. Since this is the line of least resistance, the tissues below the fistula are deprived of the blood that should circulate through them.

Blood Plasma Big Help

These fistulas also occur with greatest frequency in the neck and groin, but can be cured by proper operation, Colonel Elkin said.

In the first world war, many victims of arterial injuries bled to death or died from secondary complications that now are avoided through the prompt use of blood plasma or sulfa drugs. Army surgeons report that the sulfa drugs permit quicker operations and therefore shorter convalescent periods. Ashford Hospital, in the Fifth Service Command, is under the direction of Col. Clyde M. Beck. Formerly the world-famous Greenbrier Hotel, the hospital also is a neuro-surgical center.

Decides Against Making Report On Bond Slackers

WAHOO, Neb., Jan. 31 (INS) — Emil Placek, chairman of the Saunders county war finance committee, said today he had decided not to carry out his promise to report to selective service and ration boards the names of persons who failed to buy their quota of bonds.

"As an ex-service man and having a boy in the service, I feel very intensely on the question of every citizen doing his full duty," Placek explained.

"However, as the Treasury department does not favor force and compulsion in having some individuals to do their share and wish the bond sale drive be entirely voluntary, I will carry out their instructions."

Placek's threat met with criticism from state war finance and selective service officials, and from citizens who declared he was using "Gestapo" methods to promote war bond sales.

Gives Picture Of Bombed Berlin

LONDON, Jan. 31 (INS) — A graphic eyewitness description of a Berlin seared and twisted by Friday night's RAF attack, with street pavement melted from the heat of fires and ruined structures tottering in the flames was published in the Zurich Die Tat.

Reuters News Agency relayed the description which painted in detail a portrait of the Nazi capital—which Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering promised would never feel the weight of a single bomb—shortly after the all clear had sounded.

High-leaping, glowing flames dyed overhanging cloud banks a lurid golden red. From still-standing house walls slowly dripped streams of phosphorous to splash dully onto molten asphalt which glowed eerily in the roadways. Silhouetted against this red-tinged picture of destruction stood a few ghostly streetlamp standards like giant, extinguished torches.

TOWER A HAZARD

Every now and then some one bethinks of the tower of the court house and begins to ask questions as to whether or not it is protected against fire. And the answer is always no.

The inside of the tower is almost entirely wood, dry timbers and a lovely spot for a fire to have a field day. It has been suggested that the tower area as much as it is possible through the use of asbestos lining or some other fire resistant material.

When the court house was remodelled for some reason the tower was forgotten. It is practically the only thing needed to be done in the court house.

PLASTIC TIRE GOOD FOR SOME 8,000 MILES
AKRON, O., Jan. 31 (INS) — A plastic tire, announced by Goodyear, is said to have some advantages over tires of natural or synthetic rubber. The new tread is slow to overheat on the road and it does not deteriorate in sunlight.

The tire material is called Plioflex, an elastic substance already found feasible for garden hose and raincoats. It was made suitable for tires through a vulcanizing process. Preliminary tests show Plioflex tires will run at least 8,000 miles. A good rubber tire, driven at 35 miles an hour will run some 50,000 miles. A synthetic tire wears out after 20,000 miles.

Pondered, is the most accurate yardstick of aircraft output. The 1943 total represented about 36,000 planes.

HOW TO GET THE MOST HEAT FROM YOUR COAL

NEW YORK (INS) — If you own anthracite, to get the most heat from the least coal you should operate your furnace as follows:

In mild weather, shake the grates only if necessary and then lightly. In cold weather, shake the grates until the first red glow appears in the ashpit. Then add coal keeping a deep fuel bed during all types of weather and maintain a proportionate amount of ash. Open the ashpit damper and close the check damper according to the amount of heat desired.
